THE advertisers in this book have made its production possible. They represent the widest range of interest, both in the nature of their business and their location. They contracted for their advertising space on the assumption that it would bring them a return; and it is up to every Rutgers man to give his best consideration to those firm names which appear in the advertising section of this volume.

The quality of product of those advertisers whose market is country and world-wide is too well known to require any recapitulation here. Of those merchants of New Brunswick who have subscribed to advertising space let it be said that they have enjoyed the patronage of Rutgers men in years past, and merit such growth in their custom as new classes at college should bring them.

It is a good thing to remember, not only in the case of the SCARLET LETTER, but always, that helping others who help you is the best of policies.

COURSES OF STUDY

THE College offers courses leading to the degrees of A.B., Litt.B. and B.Sc. Under the last are included a general science course, and technical courses in Civil Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, Chemistry, Ceramics, Agriculture, and Biology. The A.B., the Litt.B., and the general science courses permit large freedom in the choice of electives and provide liberal preparatory training for the professions of law, medicine, theology, teaching, and journalism. The technical courses are designed to prepare for industrial positions of leadership, except the course in Biology, which aims to give a liberal training in the sciences, and is especially appropriate as a preliminary to the study of medicine. Short courses, not leading to a degree, are offered in Ceramics and in Agriculture.

F O R E W O R D

WITH the entrance of each new Freshman class at Rutgers a group of new personalities is introduced, who give more or less of their character to the college.

The Class of 1922 entered Rutgers as soldiers in the Student Army Training Corps, and under the stern discipline of military training were taught to be men. The war over, these new sons of Rutgers, imbued with the spirit of "carry on," took up the threads of undergraduate life as it used to be. There followed the usual underclass activities, but it is even now too early to declare that the old customs—subjected to revolutionary changes during the war—have been completely rehabilitated.

Rutgers has always been a small college. As the State University, however, its aspect is rapidly changing. The present seems to be a transition period in which old customs and new ideals are struggling for supremacy. These changes, of course, are not on the surface, but nevertheless new forces are making themselves felt.

The record of the year in this volume will reveal no startling departures; but there is an overtone present which presages great things for Rutgers.

The Year

THE year 1920-1921, while it has brought forth nothing especially startling, has nevertheless been one of steady progress in every line of college activity. Athletics, scholarship, dramatics, forensics, society, music and spirit are not only alive, but have been functioning in a manner that should make any Rutgers man feel proud.

The year started off with a record Freshman class, and the annual "pep" meeting, which lived up to its name, showed the incoming class what Rutgers spirit consists of. Then things began to whirl in college circles with their usual vigor.

The student clubs have been making history this year. Both the Civil and Mechanical Engineering clubs have become affiliated with national organizations; the Radio Club has been getting the scores of games by wireless; Philoclean has conducted its Interscholastic Debating with greater success than ever before; the Glee and Mandolin Clubs have sung and played their way through one of the most successful seasons in their history; the Ag and Biolog clubs have held regular meetings, and been otherwise active; and the Queen's Players, in conjunction with the Mimes of the N. J. C., favored us with a play which will go down in the dramatic history of Rutgers as a worthy tribute to our ability in histrionic art.

Spirit has been nowhere lacking: on the contrary it has been making itself evident throughout the year. When the football team went to South Bethlehem to play Lehigh, it was accompanied by about 500 students and a twenty-five piece band; and at the Nebraska game in New York, the performance was repeated. The spirit meetings during the fall were well attended and full of life, but the spirit of the year came to a climax in the Student Banquet in the Gymnasium on February 15. That banquet, the first of its kind that has ever been held, exemplified real Rutgers spirit. It was a "students only" function, and if any were absent, it was because the gymnasium was not large enough to hold the crowd that gathered for an evening of festivity and discussion. If for nothing else, the year 1921 will be marked in the annals of Rutgers for that banquet.

The social life of the year has been as gay as ever. Beside the regular affairs, the Sophomore Hop, the Junior Prom and the various house parties, the old custom of having a Freshman dance was revived during the fall by the ladies of the faculty. They gave a dance to the Class of 1924 of Rutgers and the classes of 1923 and 1924 of N. J. C.

And we must not forget the band. Yes, Rutgers has had a real band this year, consisting of about thirty pieces. It played at all the games during the fall and at most of the "pep" meetings, as well as assisting in the R. O. T. C. It is encouraging to note that most of the members of the band are underclassmen, thus assuring a better band than ever before in the years to come.

No, there is nothing startling to be found in this review of the year, but it still portrays the spirit of earnest, virile endeavor that has characterized Rutgers men of the past; the spirit that we cherish and hold as the best of the traditions the past has given us.

As the men of 1921 pass through the gates of old Queen's Campus to face life's battles, they enter upon a world just settling down to the pursuits of peace and prosperity. Throughout the past four years college life has been a varied and exciting one. The world has been in a state of turmoil and now as peace exists again the last effects of this condition are passing. College life is again normal, although there has been a tendency for relaxation after several years of tenseness.

In the fall of 1917 many a man pondered whether he should seek a place in the fighting forces or enter college. Many did the former, but nevertheless one hundred and seventy men entered Rutgers. But during the following months the ranks of the class were depleted, and the ranks of the army and navy filled. Then in the fall of 1918 came the Student Army Training Corps, practically wiping college life out of existence and changing it to a military one. However, the class had had instilled in it, during its Freshman year, enough of the true Rutgers spirit to pull through these trying months.

After the signing of the Armistice, 1921, with the other classes, took up the work of building up the activities that once existed. For the first time in their college life the men of the class were able to turn their attention wholly to the college and its interests. They saw before them their opportunities and duties and they buckled down to the imperative needs of the time. Looking back over these four years one can see vast changes.

As already suggested, the Freshman year was one of expectancy, not solely of college life, but of other things. The class was taught its lessons by those who had more to think of than college spirit. However, it entered into the class rivalry and class and college athletics with a whole-souled spirit that brought victory to the class in a surprising number of cases. Thus the Freshman year went by, with no startling events. There were rushes and pee-rades, "procs" and banquets. But these events are just a repetition of former events of other classes and a means of instilling college spirit into the new man. But greater times and greater things were to follow.

The Sophomore semesters were disconnected and as one looks back they seem a puzzle too difficult to solve. Instead of two there were three. The first might be termed a military semester, the second a recuperative period and at last the class reentered upon real college life in a third term. In all this excitement and turmoil the class managed to bring before the Freshmen the customs of old Rutgers. The banquets, although later than customary, were times of great rivalry. For the first time in thirteen years a Freshman president attended a Sophomore banquet. At no time since has it happened again and 1921 looks back on this little event with pleasant memories.

And then came the Junior and Senior years. There were no more chapel rushes or class banquets to engage in. But there were higher and better things for it to do. Many changes have taken place during these last two years. Men from older classes have returned to college and become a part of 1921. The cut system has been abolished and the honor system has come to Rutgers. Although this came into existence in the Junior year, the class takes pride in being a united backer of the project. During the Sophomore year the college widened its scope of instruction and the New Jersey College for Women was started.

One hundred and twenty-five men make up the Senior class, the largest one in the history of the college. These men have their mark to make in the world. During the four years in active college life, these men have fought on athletic teams and have helped bring glory to old Rutgers. In the quieter walks of college life we find the results of the energy of the other men of the class. In social functions the class has given to the college dances that will not fade from the memories of the men.

Mention must be made of the men that did not complete their four years of studies with the class. They may have failed for one of four reasons. First, there are those who are to be commended for self-sacrifice; then those who gave themselves to their country during the war; and again those who were lost in the race and disqualified; and lastly those lured away by the world to cast in their lot a little ahead of their classmates, hoping to attain something which college life did not seem to give them. These men, while they lasted, did their share to push 1921 into the foreground and to bring glory to the class.

Then the old story. 1921 goes out to seek fame. Selfishly? We hope not. Rutgers has given it more than it has given Rutgers. The men go out to live and in the years to follow the acts and memory of the past four years will determine to a large extent how these men live. Their lives have just begun. This history is just an introductory one of a history we feel sure 1921 will make in years to come. We do not attempt to foretell what lies ahead. We have briefly mentioned what has passed. We have stood a test which only a few other classes have been put to. We have survived. We have upheld the traditions of old Rutgers. With such a life started let it continue to grow and may the Class of 1921 triumph in its efforts to win respect and honor and carry forth with it the love of its glorious Alma Mater.

One hundred and fifty-five classes have entered Rutgers College, but the class of 1922 alone can say that it started its career with military training its chief aim. We did not come to increase our learning, but to aid our country in her time of need. Had the war continued the history of this class might never have been written—would surely have been vastly different. Fortunately, however, it did not continue and at midyears we began our true college life. Of the two hundred and sixty men who entered in September to become soldiers one hundred and sixty returned in January to carry on their college life.

We, who had worked and drilled side by side with the classes of '19, '20 and '21, were now forced to recognize them as our superiors. The class of '21 was hard pressed to instil in us those traditions which were a thing of the past during our military life. How well they performed their duty may be seen when we look at the effects of our training on the class of '23.

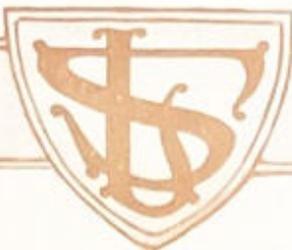

How difficult it was for us to train the class of '23 is evident when we realize that the Cane Rush, the Rope Rush and the Pajama Parade were all new to us. We entered upon our duties—for they were both a duty and a pleasure for us—with a spirit which brought to us victory over the large Freshman class.

Class banquets, however, were not new to us and here we took advantage of the training we had received in our Freshman year. Our Sophomore Class Banquet was thus a complete success as our Freshman Class Banquet had been.

On the social side there was our Sophomore Hop. Those who attended the dance know of its success and those who did not were not long held in ignorance of the wonderful time everyone had. The orchestra was carefully tucked away up in the running track to allow a maximum of floor space. The palms and flowers which decorated the track made it a not unwelcome spot during the intermissions.

Still another phase remains—that of athletics. We were always represented, no matter what the sport. To have twenty-five letter men in a

Enough for the years we have passed; let us look to the Junior Year, now so nearly over.

College began with something of the old pre-war spirit. There was a feeling of ease and of a return to the proper order of things. We were another long year away from roll of drums and the bugle call. It was our duty to oversee the training of the Class of '24. We instilled in them the spirit grown of the traditions of the college and guided them in paths which should develop them into real Rutgers men. That our own spirit has been maintained was shown by our large success in all extra curricula activities.

Our Junior Prom was unanimously voted an entire success; for, with the best music available, who could not dance? So large was the number that subscribed to the dance that the upper gymnasium, as well as the main dance floor, was necessary to accommodate the couples.

In athletics we maintained the place we held in our Sophomore year. Although the number of men has dwindled to about one hundred and fifteen the number of letter men has increased. Now we may number them as follows in their respective sports: Football, 8; Baseball, 5; Track, 5; Basketball, 4; Swimming, 3; Cross Country, 3, and Lacrosse, 7. Such a number gives evidence that we are fighting for Rutgers and 1922. In physical development it is certainly evident that the class of 1922 is conspicuous, while the percentage of Juniors on the Glee Club, the Mandolin Club, the Targum and the Debating Team keeps pace with our athletic record. We have more than brawn; we have spirit which carries us along like a strong current. True, it is a strong current, for it is Rutgers spirit.

When our Junior Class Banquet was held at Murray's, in New York City, that class spirit was put to a far different test than any of us could have foretold. Forever will that day live in our memories as sacred to the memory of Garrett Scott Voorhees, who was so tragically killed while on his way to the banquet. The dinner was a solemn and hushed affair. A vacant chair to the right of the Toastmaster was reserved for our absent classmate.

Three years of the four we are to be at college are now over. We have tried—and succeeded, in good measure—to do our best for our Alma Mater. Let us continue striving to put this, our class, ever in the van for Rutgers. It is our duty to uphold it and to make it one which will be well remembered when these four short years have ended. Let us continue to carry on and to work for our goal as we have worked in the years that have passed.

HISTORIAN.

In Memoriam

GARRETT SCOTT VOORHEES, JR.

The loss of Garrett Scott Voorhees, Jr.—sudden and unexpected as it was—cast a pall of gloom over not only the Junior Class of 1922, but the entire student body as well. His death came as a thunderbolt from a clear sky, striking where it was least expected, and taking from us one whom we could not have held in higher esteem. He was our friend, our classmate, our comrade.

Garrett was a loyal son of Rutgers, a valiant crusader of the gridiron, a student, a Christian worker, a man; one whom every one admired, respected, loved. We cannot say he died. He was as the evening star and early passed from our sight to shine with that same glorious light in a greater world beyond. Would that we could have kept him, but let us bow our heads and say as he would have said, "Not our will but Thine, O God, be done."

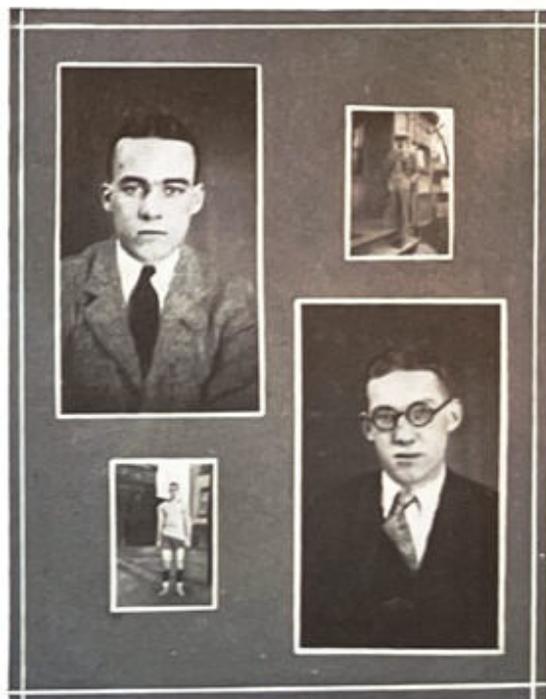

RANSFORD JAMES ABBOTT
"Rab"

As football manager, success he spells,
And snappy dresser he also excels,
But his great delight
On Saturday night
Is to park feet above head and smoke
Panatells.

ROY TWINING ABBOTT
"Roy"

Some men die of whiskey,
Some men die of beer;
But Roy Twining Abbott
Won't die an Engineer.

JOHN J. ALBERT
"Johnny"

We engineers,
We know no fears—
Not even of professors;
We let them rave,
Says Johnny brave;
We heed not our oppressors.

MALCOLM AUGUSTUS ANGUS
"Ma"

Next year a farmer lad he'll be,
A-pitching hay quite merrily.
Though the College farm is a couple of miles
Ma walks the distance wreathed in smiles.

WILLIAM ROBERTSON ANGUS,
JR.

"Squire"

This man is a farmer, too.
We hear from all around,
He hopes some day
To pitch the hay
And also till the ground.

CLINTON HOBART BAKER

"Bake"

There was a young man named Baker
They say he was never a faker.
Loyal in school,
He never shot pool—
I wonder if he is a Quaker?

LEOPOLD BECK

"Leo"

There was a young boy named Beck
Who said, "To get by Heck,
Would be heaven sublime."
So he spent all his time
And passed the darn course by Heck.

EDWARD ARNOLD BERRY

"Abe"

I hate to get up in the morning
And I hate to take a pill,
But I like to eat my breakfast
And then be late for drill.

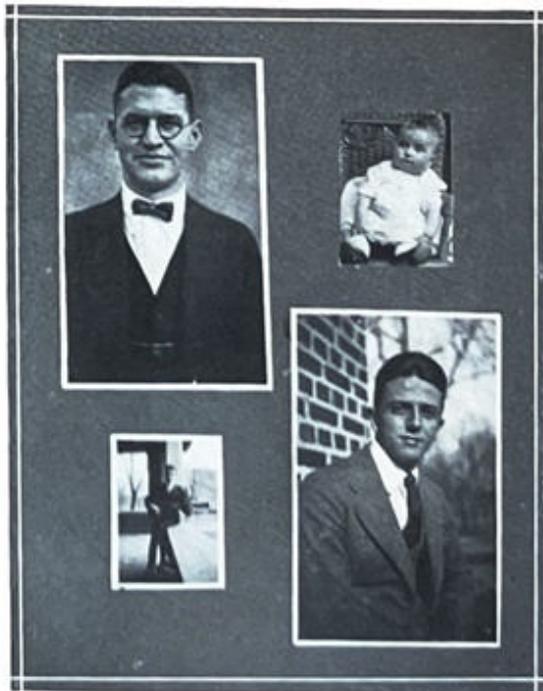

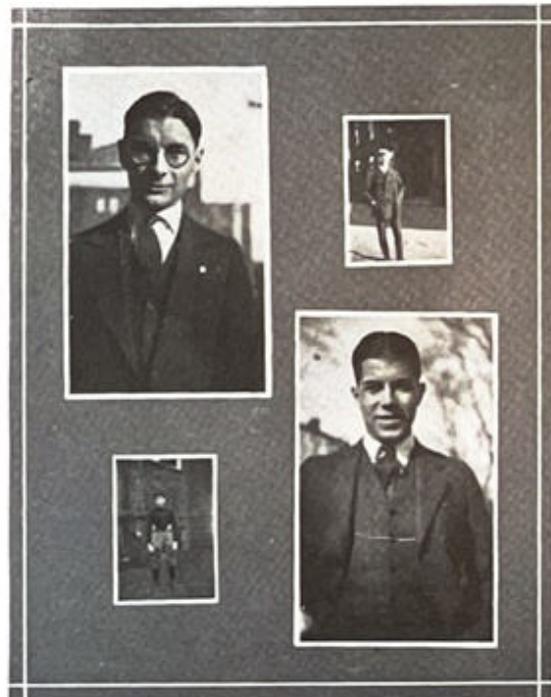

PHILANDER HAMMER BETTS
"Phil"

He always wants what he wants
When he wants it,
Sings Philander Hammer Betts,
But yet he never wants what he gets.

FRANCIS ALEXANDER
BEUGLESS
"Fran"

Fran never smokes, he seldom chews,
He never touches that stuff called booze.
For wine, women and song he has no use,
You wouldn't think he has much fun
—but he does.

WALTER EMIL BEYER
"Watts"

His height from head to foot's
Gigantic. Not so much
Is in between the cars, but then,
He doesn't study much.

DONALD VAN COURT BIRRELL
"Don"

"Oh pshaw, oh my dear," cries he
As he tears his hair when handed a C.
He dabbles in love when moments are free,
But his real aim is to swing a Phi Jakey key.

LESLIE MILO BLACK
"Les"

Even with the name of Milo
And the figure of a king
How this Aggie got in "Philo"
No one seems to know a thing.

WILLIAM ROBERT BOOCKOCK
"Bill"

Bill is the boy who is hard to rile.
It wins hands down—his infectious smile;
He swings his racquet on the tennis green
And flunks his courses with stoic mien.

WATSON HENRY BOUDINOT,
JR.
"Boudy"

Boudy is indeed a star,
He's considered on a par
With the coach whose name is Hill,
When he shoots the big round pill.

FRANK ANDREW BRADY
"Frank"

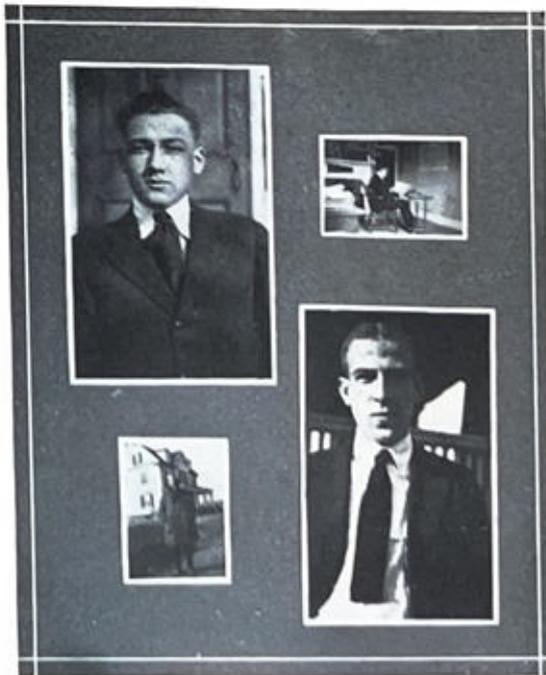

Here's a man who's remarkably quiet,
Mostly, strenuous work is his diet,
But count up the band when some fun is at hand
And Brady is sure to be nigh it.

GEORGE JOHN BRENNER
"George"

He won his letter at Lacrosse,
But thought that not enough,
So now he's out for the breast stroke
And churns the water rough.

GEORGE MANDEVILLE BRIEN
"George"

This is ungainly O'Brien Who said, "For four years I've been tryin';
At last I'm a Junior,
It should have been sooner,
But I'm neither sighin' nor cryin'."

THEODORE BRINKERHOFF
"Brink"

Take a look at this boy from South
Beacon,
Around College he sure is a meek
one;
But he debates with skill
And will go to the Hill,
Where he'll study to become a deacon.

WILLIAM DONALD BRIWA
"Mike"

He is a paradox, this Bill,
Who pitches hay with zest;
What hair he lacks upon his head
He has upon his chest.

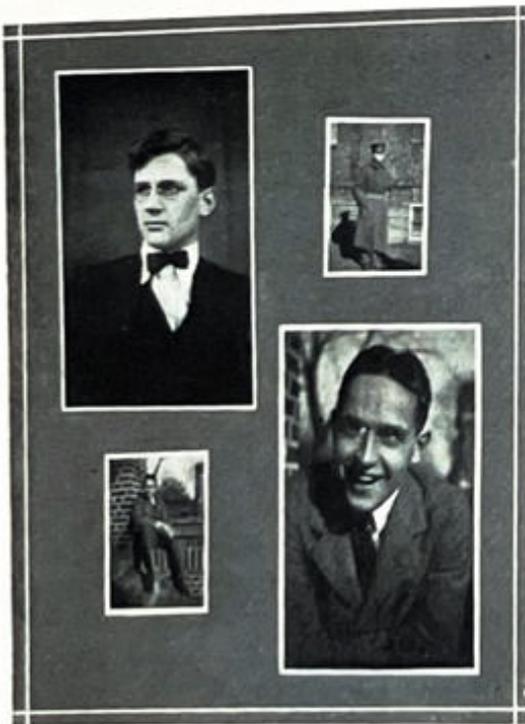

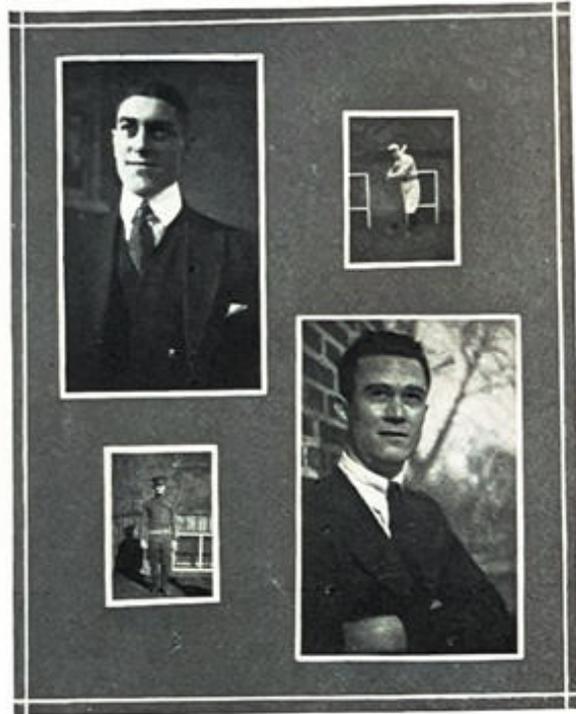

HERBERT GUSTAVE BROWER
"Herb"

On week-end nights at N. J. C., it is our jealous lot to see
 The scores of dames that Catcher
 Herb can win;
 But on his broad and manly breast
 no fair female her head may rest,
 For on his chest there leans his mighty chin.

JOHN RUSSELL BROWN
"Russ"

The burly sailor of the uncertain deep,
 But he's not uncertain unless asleep.
 They claim that a dog is a pal among men,
 But Russ says the pipe is your very best friend.

THERON PHILLIPS BROWN
"Ted"

Brownie is some engineer.
 He really gets by, so I hear.
 But with Creager and Johnny
 And Stevie and Tommie,
 How he does it is certainly queer.

REMBERT WHITING BURBANK
"Remy"

Collegiate, we'll say for the old kid
 Rem Many's the fair female ensnared by him
 But he's got the Rutgers spirit tucked under his hat
 And the kid's a man for a' of that.

FRANK VICTOR CAHILL
"Frank"

Among gymnasts he is in front rank,
 Round College he is called just Frank,
 In his solid old dome
 There's nobody home
 From the Class of '20 he sank.

WILLIAM EDGAR CALLISON
"Bill"

A busy young fellow is Bill—
 Of work he can ne'er get his fill;
 From the day that he came
 He's been always the same,
 As a social light, tho' he is nil.

WILLIAM DONALD CHRISTIE
"Don"

Ah, ha, said Venus, with voice so sweet,
 How come, my Don, those form, that feet:
 But thou hast good character and friendly mien,
 Thy mark is made—thy success is seen.

PERCY MORGAN CLARK
"P. M."

Percy Clark is dear to the grind
 Who frequents the library day and night
 'Cause he knows just where to find
 The books that will give the most delight.

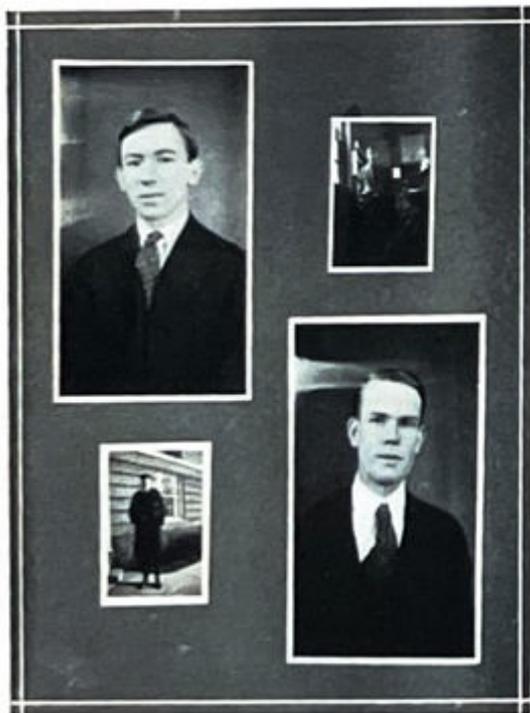

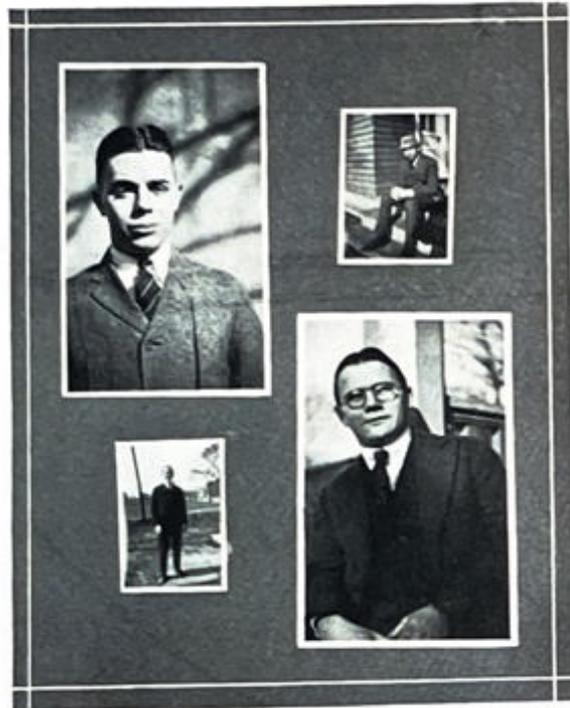

WALTER WATT CLARK, JR.
"Walt"

Perhaps your days are filled with thoughts
That make them drear and dark,
But have no fear while I am here,
I'll kill 'em—Walter Clark.

ALLEN BYRON CLAYTON
"Cupid"

Clayton, pudgy little man
With rosy nose and cheek of tan,
How I like to see you run—
And come in first. O, gee! what fun.

JEROME COHEN
"Jerry"

Jerry, breaker of maidens' hearts,
"Kelly," waster of Cupid's darts,
Cohen, thrower of acid cruel,
He may be dumb, but he ain't no fool.

CHARLES CLARENCE COOK
"Stretch"

Cook's an Ag and says it's great,
He wouldn't have liked another fate.
His marks, they lie 'tween B and D,
And like his initials are C. C. C.

GEORGE HOWARD COWIE

"George"

I fluently speak Castellava,
I learned it while down in Havana,
But my head is still aching
As though it were breaking;
I'll tell you about it Mañana.

RAYMOND EDGAR CRAY

"Ray"

A simple, modest boy is Cray,
At the farm he pitches hay;
With the girls he's sure a hummer,
Watch him now, it's coming summer,
His dates are in dozens each day.

ALBERT DU BOIS DEYO

A dominie he aspires to be,
From this photo you plainly can see,
His morals are straight,
Conscientiousness great,
And they say he's a hound at a tea.

CHARLES DIEFFENBACH

"Dief"

Little bits of redness,
Little strands of hair,
Combined to make our Dieffie's head
Outside far from bare.

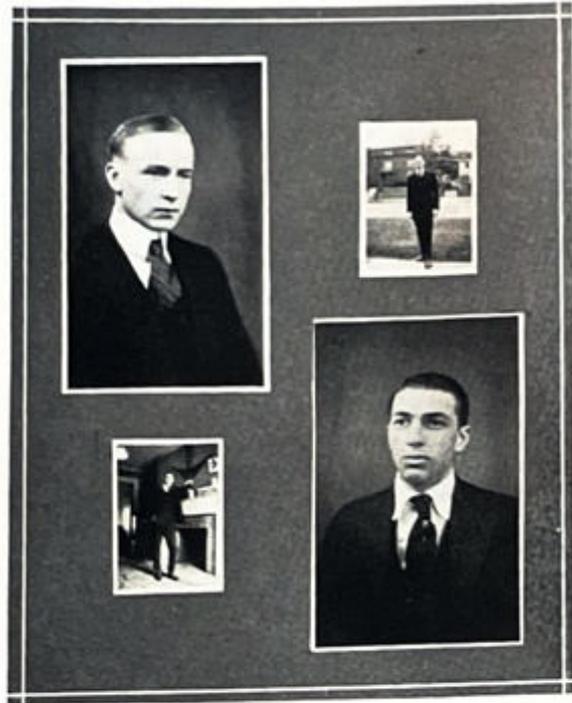

JAMES LYXNEWOOD DIXON
"Dix"

The idle life I lead
 Is like a pleasant sleep,
 Wherein I rest and heed
 The dreams that by me sweep.

FREDERICK BARNY DOREMUS
"Fred"

I'd like to be a minister,
 There are things worse.
 The only trouble with it is
 You are not supposed to curse.

ROBERT REACH DORNAN
"Bob"

You may sing about Penn if you want to,
 Or chant of Old Queens many years,
 But I've been to both
 And I'll state under oath
 They're hell on the poor Engineers.

PAUL JOSEPH DUFFY
"Paul"

A scholar of merit,
 An athlete of fame,
 Deserves all the credit
 For his pluck in the game.

FREDERICK WILSON
DETTLINGER

"Fred"

At basketball, football or track,
Each year this man takes a crack;
He's thin and he's tall,
Plays center at basketball—
Runs like a camel, especially his back

DOUGLAS HOLDEN DE WITT

"Doug"

Here's Captain DeWitt as you see,
Serene as he ever can be;
When he sprints on the track,
With one or a pack,
First to finish he is sure to be.

EDWIN MARTIN DURAND

"Eddie"

Eddie Durand is a Chemistry shark
And at math he also excels;
But he is poor at those
Compared to this pose:
With a girl in the swing after dark.

JOSEPH WALTER ECKHARDT

"Butch"

When all togged up in a football suit,
Butch looks like a terrible brute.
This is not a lie the players say,
Who have fought against him every day.

ISADORE EISENMAN

Cassez-vous, cassez-vous, cassez-vous,
O mer, sur vos froids gris cailloux!
Ainsi traduisit Laure
Au profit d'Isadore
Bon jeune homme, et son future
epoux.

ALLEN CHRIEST ELY

He ain't done nothin' to nobody,
And he ain't got nothin' from nobody, no time.
And until he does somethin' or someone, sometime,
We can't ride him for Nothin' or for nobody, no time.

WILLIAM ANTHONY FEIRER
"Bill"

If someone would only aspire
To visit and "holler" at Feirer!
Excitement would start,
Books and desks they would part,
And some would go and expire.

CLAUDE KER FETTER

He came here with armor of innocence,
Sir Galahad's heart wasn't calmer,
But, nevertheless, we have to confess They've put some dents in his armor.

ANDREW KIP FOULDS

"Andy"

Racing around with a camera
Is not so good as it looks;
If you had to snap the faces I do
You'd prefer to study your books.

VERNON CARTWRIGHT FOX

"Foxy"

Ex every class from '19 down,
He came back from the war
To settle in Metuchen town
And try to study some more.

EUGENE VAN NOSTRAND
FULLER

"Gene, Pat"

A speedy man when he dons the spikes,
A knock-out with the women,
To reach Poughkeepsie is his "am-bish."
If he has to get there by swimmin'.

EVERETT PETER GARDELLA

I like to talk in classes,
And sometimes in chapel, too;
But, oh! I only wish that I had
Not another thing to do.

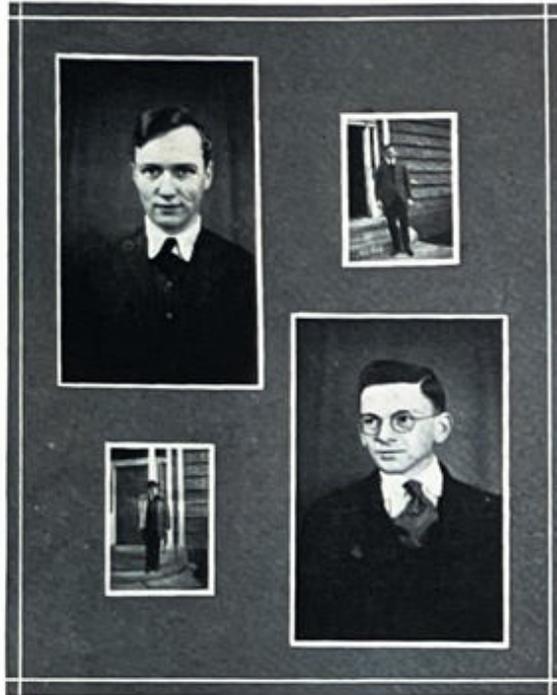

FREDERIC CARROLL GENZMER
"Fritz"

Why ever he took the Aggie course
 I can't see at all, can you?
 'Cause in almost every class
 He tells the Prof a thing or two.

HARRY WOLFE GOLDSMITH
"Oliver"

Oliver—whence comes the name?
 He claims no kin with the poet.
 Sheepskin coat, unshaven phiz his fame;
 And trained ability to "throw it."

THEODORE KINNE GRAHAM
"Ted"

Of all the courses M. E. is the best,
 I think it's got it on all the rest,
 Although you can't sleep late and fib
 As all the boys seem to do in Lib.

KURT GROEPLER

Good old Kurt is sure some worker,
 Goes at everything with a vim,
 But like a tobacco-chewer,
 Life's just one big plug for him.

HERMAN HARAD

"Herm"

Here's a man who's a commuter
 And one who never has to tutor,
 He takes such delight
 In studying at night
 We fear he'll ne'er be a suitor.

GEORGE FRANCIS
HARRINGTON*"George"*

George "works the set" in hours dark
 When all good boys should be in bed.
 He loves the song of the crashing spark
 And sometimes studies, it is said.

WILLIAM HERSOHN

"Bill"

This is one of the many grains of sand
 Coming from Father Abraham's band.
 He lives in a big sea-side resort,
 Where boot-leggers thrive and bathing beauties sport.

JOSEPH CARL HILLIARD

"Carl"

With this man all like to have a drag,
 'Cause when we miss chapel he hands
 in a tag
 Which spells bad news, as we have learned,
 And sometimes means a suspension earned.

WILBERT BAKER HITCHNER
"Babe"

You know the meter, ta-da-ta-da, in any old poem?
 Well, that's the racket Hitch makes on a saxophone.
 His girl thinks he's a little old dear,
 But she knows not of his time in Ridgewood, I fear.

FREDERICK ALLEN HOFFMAN
"Fred"

They say that Freddy is a mech. engineer,
 Can fix alarm clocks or chin himself on a chandelier.
 He's morally, mentally and physically fit:
 Never plays poker and never gets lit.

HUI HSIEH

A quiet chap is Hsieh,
 Who comes from o'er the sea,
 He always wears a happy grin,
 Especially when mail comes in.
 But how he reads it I can't see.

JOHN GARDINER HUBBARD
"Johnny"

Johnny's his mother's pride and joy,
 For he's learning to be a soldier boy.
 But he's not a sissy like that sounds,
 As his language with obscene words abounds.

DONALD FREEMAN IRVING
"Don"

Don's an Ag, we'll grant him that,
 Yet out at the farm he doesn't get fat.
 Maybe walking to and fro each day
 Has something to do with what we say.

DONALD MORTIMER JAMES
"King"

There was a young man from Montclair,
 With "beaucoup" good looks and dark hair.

His one aim is to be
 Out at N. J. C.
 Some night when Mrs. D. isn't there.

FRANK LOUIS JOHNSON
"Johnny"

A real good scout is Johnson, F. L.,
 A baseball player and fusser as well.
 He's at home in a davenport, Buick or Lizzie,
 When home for the week-end he's terribly busy.

GARRETT IRONS JOHNSON
"Johnny"

Johnny's full of talent,
 Johnny's full of Jazz,
 But when he plays in study hour
 He always gets the razz.

JAMES CARLTON JONES
"Joncsy"

Then we turn to J. C. Jones,
 A cub reporter he'd be.
 He's on the staff of the Daily News,
 And a success at that is he.

HAROLD CORNELL KAHLE
"Curley"

Curley comes from the Long Twig town.
 As a Frosh and Soph he was little known,
 But as a Junior, on the gridiron—
 Well, many an oak from an acorn hath grown.

JOSEPH HAROLD KELLY
"Kel"

Kel is one of the General's squad,
 He swings a wicked bat;
 And though we claim E. E. is hard
 He has it pinned on the mat.

JOSEPH KENNY
"Joe"

Joe is a worker from morn till night;
 At Mack's during meals, then track,
 then books;
 He does his work and does it right
 And is just as ingenue as he looks.

CARL LUDWIG KNITTER

"Carl"

"It floats" is the ad applied to Carl;
He has a chest and a figure like a barrel.
He hails from the town of Newark
free
And is said to be the last of the family tree.

THEODORE KOERNER

"Ted"

Ted is one of our first Phi Jakes,
A "Lib" of the queerest sort;
Never works for the marks he makes
And he thinks that Math is sport.

LEWIS CHARLES KUHL, JR.

Another man from the place near the sea,
Who came to Rutgers to take C. E.
And now likes this boring course enough
To stay up late and study the stuff.

DANIEL GARVER KUHLETHAU

"Dan"

"Sandy" calls him "Lantern,"
The fellows call him "Dan,"
At N. J. C. it's "Garvah,"
Where they shake a wicked fan.

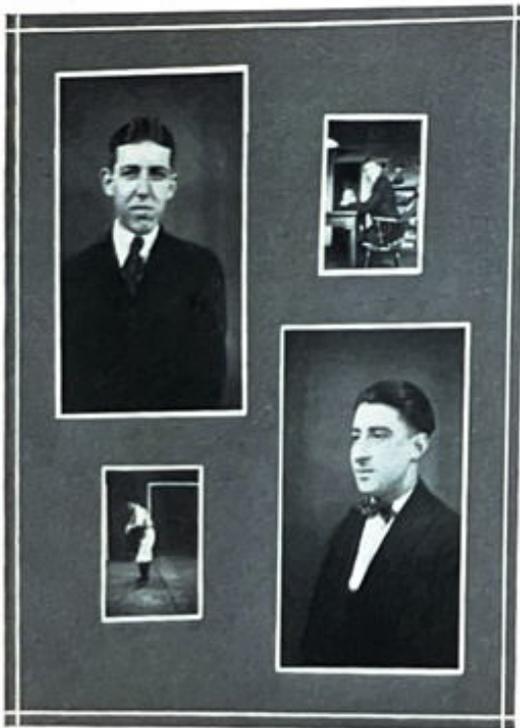

FRANK DAVID KULL
"Frank"

Football, basketball, pinochle too,
Are a few of the things Frank likes to do.
It really is an awful pity
He has to come from Joisey City.

RICHARD BURTON LAMSCHA
"Dick," "Burt," "Queenie"

Now here's a lad the like of whom
One does not often see.
He has good looks, dislikes the books—
I would that I were he.

CHURCHILL PIERCE LATHROP
"Cherry"

'Way back in Freshman year,
A sure key man he did appear;
But now he's an uproar fan;
He also snakes when'er he can,
For the girls think he's a dear.

BENJAMIN SAL LEON
"Benny"

Benny's got a pitcher's wing,
Opposing batters can't hit a thing.
This year he'll have to make the old ball spin
To keep the mound in place of Flynn.

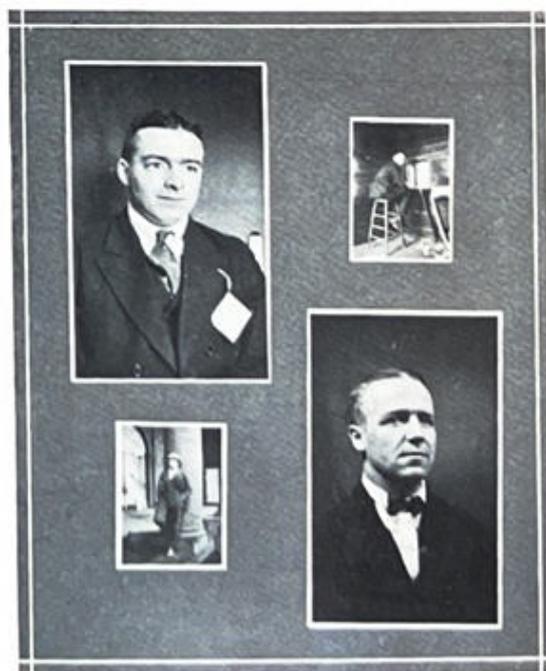

THOMAS FRANCIS MACKESSY
"Mack"

 man,
 Who types as fast as Eddie can;
 His neck is not like the typewriter-hood,
 Which we all know is Underwood.

MALONEY
"Dutch"

His ways are often curious,
 And eke and also quaint,
 And all his little playmates
 Call him Dutch because he ain't.

CHARLES LEVERICH MESSER
"Charlie"

If you want to go to College
 Just come along with me
 And get the job in the ticket booth,
 Where I make a wholesome fee.

WALTER LANG MOLINEUX
"Walt," "Molly"

The lad who ran the book store
 To earn his way through College,
 But two years fixed him up for life;
 He sure did use his knowledge.

LEWIS WENTWORTH MOORE

"Lew"

Here's a boy that's bound to get through,
Happy-go-lucky, grinning Lew.
His sunny smile gets up with the sun
And doesn't fade till the day is 'one.

JULIUS FREDERICK MULLER

"Fred"

This man comes from Ridgewood
And is a hard-working Ag.
But he finds time for parties
And never goes stag.

EDWARD FRANK O'DAIR

"Eddie"

We used to call him Ed O'Dair,
But now it must be O'Dair, Ed.;
As Ed-in-chief he's sure a bear;
But, as you see, he loves his bed.

BISHOP ADAIR OXENFORD

"Bishop"

Bishop looks and plays the part
And tho his course is letters and art
He struggles with Tommy to master
D. C.;
An electrical preacher this lad's gonna be.

ERNEST RAYMOND PALEN

"Deac," "Ernie"

It's not so easy to write of Deacon,
 For when he's been fussin' we never were peekin',
 She may be Spanish, Swede or
 Dutch,
 But that doesn't matter much;
 It's the women that he's always seekin'.

ROY GAMALIEL PETERSEN

"Roy," "Pete"

This civil engineer in accents bold
 Proclaims to all who care to lend him car—
 To him Prof. Brasey's course no terrors hold,
 He knows he'll flunk it cold—hence has no fear.

RAYMOND VINCENT POTTER

"Ray"

'Twas the day before midyears,
 And the skies seemed dark and gray,
 When entered this young Junior
 With a joke that saved the day.

HARRY HAYNER PRATT

"Harry," "Pratty"

Here's a brute who puts the shot,
 But it's more than weight he's got;
 For he has a drag with all—
 Profs, classmates and girls both short and tall.

JOHN TURNBULL QUIGLEY
"Johnny"

Flaxen hair with a wavy bend,
Eyes that with sea water softly b'end,
You never see him with corduroys,
He's the ace of East Orange boys.

WARREN CROWELL FITZ
RANDOLPH

His flaxen hair stands stiff and straight:
His countenance all rosy;
He goes his way and waits his fate,
He's not the least bit nosy.

JOHN WESLEY RASTALL
"Wes"

Wes came back after quite a long stay
On the shores of sunny France,
He doesn't overwork the books,
But, then—you should see him dance!

HAROLD WILLIAM RAY

Here's to handsome young Ray,
Of whom there is much we can say—
With a pole vault's quite spry
And on the track can almost fly.

SHIVLER BERTRAM REED
"Shiv"

No book hound is our Shivler,
 A happy, liberal man;
 But when he grasps an auto wheel
 Just beat him, if you can.

EVERETT GORDON REID
"Ev"

Ev is neat and without a speck,
 But when the bell rings he's never on deck;
 But he's a good guy,
 No one can deny,
 And on this you can bet your neck.

CASPER WILLIAM RIEMAN, 3RD
 Rieman arrived on the Raritan's banks
 To begin his Sophomore year,
 He enlisted with the '22 ranks
 And knocks the books dead, we hear.

WILLIAM REI ROBBINS
"Robbie"

Robbie's a promising "Hill and Daler"
 We suggest that he
 Can coin a pretty sum
 By employing a "sightseeing Trailer."

ROBERT HENRY ROLLINS, JR.
"Rolly"

"Rolly" likes to play with acid,
He runs his tests and breaks his beakers;
But still his temper stays quite plac'd;
He's of our keenest knowledge seekers.

WILLIAM KNIGHT RUSSELL
"Bill," "Russ"

Russ, he wants to teach,
Even now he can preach.
Sundays he goes out of town
With his grip, his book and gown.
May Allah he'p the empty pew—
For Bill can cuss a few.

RAYMOND DANIEL SAXE
"Ray"

Ray, he hails from Palenville,
So big and strong and brave;
And for him the girls will fall
When they see his Marcel wave.

ROBERT EDWARD SIMON

Simon comes to town each day
In quest of learning deep and dark;
An Engineer he'll be some day,

LEON HAROLD SMITH

"Lee"

Lee Smith, a mighty man is he:
Gaze on his broad expanse:
In build quite large he grew to be,
But brains? He's dumb, he grants.

LAURENCE HASBROUCK
SNYDER

He plays the piano with ease,
You should see him pounce on the keys;
He goes up and down
Very much like a clown,
In his earnest endeavor to please.

GEORGE WAXAMAKER SOOY, JR."George"

Modest when he's with the boys,
Refined, resigned and quiet,
But when the lad gets with the girls
They say he's quite a riot.

RALPH EMERSON STONE

"Ralph"

When I go after ads I get 'em by the throat,
But when they swear and turn me down it kind of gets my goat;
Also when they try to ride me, laugh
and gloat,
But I don't care, as I know in the end it means a new overcoat.

JOHN M. SUMMERILL
"Plug"

Pennsgrove sent this Junior
To broaden out his knowledge,
But in sports is where he really shone,
And brought fame to his College.

JOHN RAY TAYLOR
"Ray"

Ray teaches Mechanics to Schoening,
He's the works of the M. E. section,
In ambition he knows no waning
He's our first Phi Jake selection.

HERMAN RAMSEY TERHUNE
"Tuny"

Tuny writes the humor this year;
At reeling it off he has no Peer.
But he finds time for other things too,
Ask him sometime what he likes to do.

LOUIS TILL
"Tilly"

Yes, Tilly can handle a cue,
Drop ivory balls in their nest;
In mid-year exams he flunked quite a few,
In finals he'll miss all the rest!

RAYMOND ELWOOD VAN BUSKIRK

"Ray"

The trail to N. J. C. to Ray
Maintains no sights unique,
For does he not across town stray
At least three times a week?

PHILIP STANLEY VAN ORDEN

"Phil"

A physiologist of parts,
He hunts the wily cat,
But when he plays around with the girls
He don't know what he's at.

GARRETT SCOTT VOORHEES,
JR.

"Garry"

Here is a fighting farmer,
No peaceful man is he;
When dressed in football armor,
A warrior bold you see.

ROBERT SAMUEL WHEELOCK

"Bob"

This lad of our baseball squad
Came here from Annapolis' halls;
When Bob takes a fall, they say, he falls hard;
And for most every girl he falls.

STEPHEN JULIUS WOLFF
"Steve"

Here's to the star of the cow-judging bunch,
Who placed this year on a darn good hunch;
But from what we do hear,
And it is true we do fear,
The smell nearly threatened his lunch.

When the Class of 1923 returned to college in September it was found that there were only one hundred and seventy of the original two hundred and sixty-five left to carry on the work that the class had begun so successfully in the freshman year.

The task of training the two hundred and sixty-five frosh of 1924 has been difficult, but the class feels that it is doing everything possible to obtain the desired end. A new rule, forbidding the freshmen to wear army breeches and golf stockings or leggings on days other than drill days, is now enforced. The task of training the freshmen has become harder with the growth of the college, for the classes have been larger and are not so easy to manage.

Every year the number of rushes have been decreased, and their form modified. At the beginning of this year class scraps were almost unknown, but, later, the Casque and Dagger received permission to organize and carry on a system of rushes. Although little has been accomplished on account of the short space of time it is the general opinion that organized rushes—though not replete in enjoyment for the participants—will react to the best interests of the college by stimulating the lagging class spirit.

Recalling the false alarm that was sent into fire headquarters during the scuffle to reach the coveted poster in the Proc Rush last year, the Senior Council changed the scene of the final scrap from the fire alarm box to a lamp post on Hamilton Street, at the head of Bleeker Place. But while the rush was at its height some one slipped away and turned in an alarm which brought out the fire department again, so that the efforts of the Senior Council went for naught.

In class banquets 1923 has always been successful. On the occasions of both the freshman and sophomore banquets the class president was at hand. As freshmen the spread was held at Hotel Brevoort, New York City, without disturbance from the present Junior Class, who were holding their sophomore banquet at Stewart's—not a mile away from the scene of festivities. An attempt to break it up resulted in finding that 1922 had dined and then broken up to take in a show. This year's banquet was held at Keen's Chop House, in Thirty-sixth Street. After an enjoyable meal the entire class rushed to the Forty-fourth Street establishment bearing the same name, where the freshmen were holding forth. There was a short interruption, quelled by the police, and the class retired from the field, for there are far more comfortable sleeping accommodations—even in Winants—than in the establishment provided for transgressors by the City of New York.

In the football rush and the few chapel rushes that were held the class continued to come out on top.

The Sophomore Hop, held in Ballantine Gymnasium on December 12, marked the debut of the class in the social world. Like everything else that 1923 undertook, it proved a success in every respect.

The Class of 1923 has done its full share in upholding the name of Rutgers in the field of athletics. There is not a team that wears the Scarlet that does not have on its roster at least one member of this class.

Not only in athletics has the class bent its efforts, but in the Queen's Players, the Philoclean Literary Society, the Targum, the Glee and Mandolin Clubs, the Y. M. C. A., and in various other college organizations 1923 has given its best support. In all subscription drives the class has held up its end.

The Class of 1923 is now on the second quarter of its journey through Rutgers. It started to make a name for itself and has thus far been successful; but during the two remaining years Rutgers may look for even more. The standard set has been high, but it will be maintained and Rutgers will be better for it. It may be said now of 1923 that "That which they have done is but earnest of the things that they shall do."

1924

The Class of 1924 entered Rutgers with two hundred and sixty-five members. After the mid-year examinations the enrollment was practically the same. Good scholarship is our first attribute to be remembered.

But the Freshmen of to-day should not be thought bookworms without any initiative. In class activities the men of '24 have more than held their own.

The Proc Rush came before we were fully organized. The men of '23 can attest to our fighting qualities. They were declared the victors, but the fact remains that the "proc" in front of Jersey Hall was down at the close of the final struggle.

In the three-game baseball series with the Sophomores we overwhelmed them easily in every contest.

The next event of interest was the Interclass Track Meet and again we were victorious, but by a narrow margin.

The Freshmen were represented in practically every College activity, including Football, Track, Basketball, Swimming, Musical clubs, and the Queen's Players, and no mean part of the Scarlet's success was due to these underclassmen. Rutgers spirit does not seem to be lacking in this class.

In the first two Chapel Rushes after Christmas the younger classmen scored two more notable victories and success in the future battles at the east end of Queen's seemed assured.

The class banquet was a great climax to our list of triumphs and our president was with us, as was the Sophomore vice-president for some time. The speakers, including several popular members of the faculty, gave very fine talks, which were of interest to all. About one hundred and fifty were present.

We have also to thank the faculty for the Freshman Reception, which was enjoyed by all and marked our entrance into social life at Rutgers.

In brief, our class is making a name for itself in scholarship, is upholding the good old Rutgers traditions, and at an early age is helping fight the Big R's battles. What more can be asked of any class?

FOOTBALL

VARSITY FOOTBALL TEAM, 1920

Football Season 1920

"SANDY"

The schedule was rather heavy, but was arranged by Manager Abbott when the prospects looked good.

Coach Sanford, although disappointed, is not discouraged and will be with us another year to build up his strong machine, which has heretofore been looked upon with envy by larger institutions. Such an example of faithfulness deserves the best that we can give.

"MIKE"

The 1920 season of football here at Rutgers was the least successful season during Coach Sanford's connections with the University.

At the conclusion of last season, and even the beginning of this, with a large number of men well trained in Sanfordian tactics, prospects for an excellent team looked bright. Unfortunately, however, some of the most valuable men left college and Mr. Sanford, with his assistants, Rendall and Whittpenn, had nothing but green material with which to work.

All these men who left have made estimable records in this branch of athletics in the colleges with which they are now affiliated, showing that they would have been of great value to the Scarlet.

Notwithstanding these handicaps, from about sixty-five men a nucleus was picked and trained, so that even though they were unsuccessful in the outcome of the games they made a very creditable showing and the whole college realizes that they did their best for their Alma Mater.

"THUG"

Captain Gardner, Duffy and Winner were kept out of some of the biggest games because of injuries sustained in the early part of the season.

URSINUS: 14-7—The football season opened with Ursinus, who, for the first time in all the times they have played against the Scarlet, succeeded in coming out with a victory. It was a big surprise to all, but they played an excellent game.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND: 0-7—After the defeat in the first game pressure was brought to bear, and the Maryland team suffered defeat to the tune of 7-0; not an overwhelming victory, but enough to give the team confidence to see them through the season.

LEHIGH: 9-0—With an escort of the larger part of the student body the Scarlet invaded the town of South Bethlehem and fought one of the hardest battles of the season with the Lehigh team. The outcome, however, was disappointing and added another defeat to the Rutgers column.

"TURK"

VIRGINIA POLYTECHNIC INSTITUTE: 6-19—Like a see-saw the team won the fourth game and evened up the results, so after a hard-fought contest savoring of new found skill on the part of our team the blowing of the whistle awoke the spectators to the fact that we had defeated the invaders from the South.

UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA: 7-0—Revenge is sweet and another Southern team came up to show Rutgers how to play football. They had a difficult time with their demonstration and it was only by their very sturdy bracing in their own territory that they kept the score from being a tie.

"RAUB"

CORNELL: 24-0—For the first time in years Cornell appeared on Rutgers' schedule and with fifteen or twenty loyal Rutgers men—who say little about how they went there to cheer them on—they succeeded in showing the Ithacans that this little Jersey team knows a little about football. However, we were unable to prevent defeat and came back to get in trim for the next game—three days later.

UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA: 28-0—The Giants of the West they certainly were, and even "Howie" Raub looked like a midget beside some of the "cornhuskers." They were like a stone wall and the little Rutgers team could not do much except bring the onlookers to the support of the "little fellows."

VIRGINIA POLY GAME

WEST VIRGINIA: 21-0—The Mountaineers again defeated Rutgers this year, but it was a hard-fought game from start to finish and expressed the rising rivalry of these two teams in the past four seasons.

UNIVERSITY OF DETROIT: 27-0—On Thanksgiving Day the Scarlet eleven traveled out to Detroit to meet the mid-Western team; and with the spirit of the last chance and the last game, they put every effort forward to win. But, alas! they came back home with the seventh defeat of the season regrettably tucked away in Doc's pocket.

At the end of the season Paul Duffy was chosen captain, with Raymond D. Saxe manager for next year.

So the season ended. Each man in his turn showed signs of excellent playing, but even with the capable leadership of Captain Gardner and Acting-Captain H. Redmond the team work was faulty, for new men had to be put first in this place and then that to fill the vacancy of some injured member.

Let the past season and its vicissitudes be remembered as one which is likely to come to any team in the course of the changing years, and work harder than ever before to make the coming season as nearly as possible like it in cleanness of playing, but unlike it in final results.

But in our schedule for next year we are not retrenching. We are not choosing to meet those teams which are classed among the weaker elevens. Such is not the spirit of Rutgers.

When, in 1917, we had the team which was hailed the country over—aye, and even the world over—as the "Scarlet Scourge," we set for ourselves an ideal indeed worthy of emulation by any institution.

We shall hold to our ideals, and know that they will bring us their proper return.

No, if anything, the schedule for the season of 1921 will be far harder than that ever before encountered by a Rutgers football team. Of course, we will begin the season by meeting our perennial rival, Ursinus—and far different indeed must be the result of the game next year than that of the season past. We are to meet Lehigh at Neilson Field. The game with the Brown and White has now assumed the position of the biggest game of the season.

For two successive years victory has favored the South Bethlehem warriors. The game that is to mark the turning of the tide is near at hand.

Two universities that have not appeared on our schedule for some considerable time are to be met on their own home grounds: Lafayette, at Easton; and New York University, at Ohio Field, New York. They are two natural, geographical rivals, and in those games we may look to see two hard-fought battles.

"PAUL"

"RAY"

In next year's schedule there is one thing to be noted: only one game—that with Georgia Tech—is to be played at any great distance from New Brunswick. Thus, in all but that one game we, who are not fortunate enough to fight for the Scarlet on the gridiron, may at least swarm the stands and cheer the team on to victory. And for those of us who went to Cornell last fall—will a trifling couple of hundred miles be any obstacle?

The football season of 1921 is near. Even now spring practice has started. We are beginning early, and will prove this coming year the worth of the old maxim: "A good start is half the race."

Baseball Season 1920

From the standpoint of games won the season of 1920 can hardly be called a success. The record shows five victories and nine defeats, but only the spectators at the games can appreciate how fast our opponents played to keep the Scarlet from showing a better games won and lost standing.

Although the team was strengthened in the infield by the return of Eddie and "Bub" Durand from war service, the great weakness was in the mound position. Both Waterfield and Leon played good games, but their ability in pitching lay not so much in their speed or curves, but in outguessing the batter. Unfortunately, too often the batter outguessed them.

The infield, consisting of the Durand brothers, Taliaferro and Van Orden, worked together in fine form; and the outfield, of Captain Baker, French and Wheelock, stopped many a ball that was out of reach of the guardians of the inner diamond.

"RALPH"

By far the most interesting game was that against our old rival at Castle Point—Stevens. The score remained 3-3 from the seventh inning until the thirteenth, when Captain Baker drove in the winning run.

The game with Delaware was a hard one to lose. Both teams played their best, but the Scarlet could not overcome the one-run lead that Delaware secured early in the game.

As in no other sport like baseball, "the breaks" count in large measure in deciding the final score, and it was just at the critical time in most of the games that the gods of chance chose to smile unkindly on the fortunes of the Scarlet.

The record of the season shows that first we would win, then lose a game; win again, only to lose the next—and possibly the next after that. This erratic record might well be explained by saying that the cause lay with the teams that we played: that first we would win over a weak nine and then be defeated by a strong team.

Rather, however, it seemed to those who followed the team closely in their part of the "national game" that it was the Rutgers nine that was first good, then poor; and that the teams that we met were of more or less average college team ability, with now and then a really good combination showing up.

The hitting of the Rutgers team was a weak point, and although practice as the season progressed showed an improving batting average, there was that subtle something which we call "a batting eye" that simply would not develop.

From observation of players' records in baseball, it seems that men are not developed into hitters, but that that ability is a natural gift—either you have it when you start, or it does not come at all.

A call for candidates for fall practice was made immediately after college opened in September. About sixty men answered, and while the weather continued fair, they made the most of their opportunity to keep at the game. A serious handicap to fall practice lies in the fact that many members of the baseball squad are also out for football; and since the latter sport is in its active season at that time, of course it takes precedence. The greatest value of fall practice, however, is, perhaps, that it gives "General" Cox an opportunity to size up his material so that he will know what he will have to work with when the spring does come around. He found a good deal of likely material come to light during the fall, and believes they will round into form in good time.

Just as this goes to press baseball practice has started. Leon, Eddie Durand, Ross, Wheelock and Captain Van Orden are the only veterans who are still in college, but in the development of the reserves of last year, and rookies from the class of 1924, there is every indication that the team for the coming season will have unusual success. Although the schedule calls for games with our old rivals, and some new ones, "General" Cox is confident that his charges will be able to render a good account of themselves.

CHAMPIONSHIP RELAY TEAM, 1920

Track Season 1920

The Track Team brought its season to a finish without a break in its chain of victories. This is the second season under Coach Anderson's excellent coaching, which has registered only victories for the Scarlet. This speaks well for "Carl," who deserves a great deal of credit.

The biggest and most exciting event of the season was the Middle Atlantic States Championship Meet, held at Neilson Field. For the second successive year the Scarlet team captured the cup, but by the extremely bare margin of a half point. The score was Rutgers, 31½; Lafayette, 31.

"CARL"

In the Penn Relays, not satisfied with making a record in 1919, this year's quartet, composed of Captain Rice, DeWitt, Merquelin and Beattie, lowered the old mark by three and one-fifth seconds, making the new time three minutes, twenty-six and four-fifths seconds.

In the Inter-Collegiates, held at Franklin Field, DeWitt scored the only point for Rutgers when he took fourth place in the "century" in a hotly contested race.

The dual meet held at Rutgers with Lehigh in the pouring rain was an easy victory for our team, which rolled up a score of 66 points against Lehigh's 22.

The only other dual meet was held at Swarthmore, where the Scarlet team received the surprise of its life when the Swarthmoriens came through with "almost a victory" after their poor showing in the championships. Had the meet been run off with all the events as scheduled the score would have tallied up as a loss for Rutgers. However, all the javelins were broken, causing the event to be ruled out, leaving a victory of 54-50 for Rutgers. During the meet two college records were shattered. "Doug" DeWitt set a new mark in the 220-yard dash and "Herbie" Meyer made a new record in the hurdles.

Several good men were lost by graduation, but the Freshman Class will do its share toward filling the vacancies and the prospects look brighter than ever.

During the indoor season of the winter of 1921 the Track Team participated in contests held under the auspices of Brooklyn College, Central High School, the Junior Championships Committee of the Metropolitan Amateur Athletic Union, Millrose Athletic Club, Johns Hopkins University and of the New York Athletic Club.

In these competitions the relay team of Fuller, Ray, Beattie and Capt. DeWitt secured one first place, three seconds—losing first place by inches each time—and one third place. Kolb ran in Fuller's place at the Central

VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM, 1921

Basketball Season 1921

The basketball season just past was one of varied success. At times Rutgers looked unbeatable and played a championship brand of basketball, at other times the team fell down miserably, but the latter was the case only on one or two occasions. It was a great year for basketball both at Rutgers and elsewhere.

Great interest was shown by the undergraduate body and at the first call for candidates over fifty men reported. In order to get the best possible results the squad was cut to fifteen at Christmas time. These men worked hard all the season, doing their best to turn out a winning team.

Coach Hill worked tooth and nail and put all his energy into his coaching. He came down here early and stayed late with but one ambition, that of increasing the glory of Rutgers by producing a winning team.

The season opened with Ursinus. Rutgers felt the result of fine coaching and came out with the leading score. The next two games, with Columbia Law School and Delaware, were won in an easy fashion.

On Friday, January 14, the team played Johns Hopkins at Baltimore, winning by the score of 25-13. The next day, at Annapolis, Rutgers suffered her first defeat. The Naval Academy team, big, fast and strong basketball players in every sense of the word, completely outclassed Rutgers. The score was 38-13. This relapse was partly due to the absence of Coach Hill, who had been confined to his bed with pneumonia.

The following week the team suffered defeat at the hands of Lehigh. Then Coach Hill returned and put new life in the squad. His return was an inspiration and the team worked harder than ever. After a week of good, stiff practice the strong North Carolina team was forced to yield to our basketeers.

Stevens had a great team, one of the strongest in the East, and we were obliged to accept defeat both at Hoboken and at the Ballantine Gymnasium.

On the afternoon following the Junior Prom Swarthmore met her Waterloo before a large crowd of "fussers." The following Tuesday at N. Y. U. Rutgers again met her superiors in basketball and was forced to accept the small end of a 45-15 score.

The greatest achievement of this year was our spectacular victory over Cornell University. This game was the fastest and the hardest-fought game which we have played since we defeated Princeton last year. The final score was 35-31.

The only man lost to the squad this year by graduation is Captain Hall. Watson Boudinot has been elected captain for the coming season and with the material left from this year's team and the new men coming in Rutgers will have a great team next year. "The best of luck to you, Boudie."

The squad was made up of Captain Hall, Benzoni, Boudinot, Enander, Ellis, Brandt, Raub, Kull, Gardner, Heine, Dettlinger, Black and Whitehill. A great deal of credit is due to the men who worked through the entire season—some of whom did not get into more than one or two games.

To the Cheer Leaders

When the prospects seem but dreary,
 When the team is getting weary,
 And it seems as though we'll never win the day;
 With a snappy cheer to stir them,
 Rouse their lagging spirits, spur them,
 Then but brick walls can deter them,
 And Grif, Mart, Bob, George or Tommy leads the way.

VARSITY SWIMMING TEAM, 1921

Swimming Season 1921.

For the second time in as many years the Swimming Team has completed its schedule without being defeated. There were seven dual meets, and the Individual Championships of both the Eastern Collegiate and Intercollegiate Swimming Associations.

In every department of the sport Rutgers secured more points than all her competitors together, with the single exception of the breast stroke event. Giebel was easily the individual star, leading the rest of the team by far in the number of points scored. Clarence Ross followed the big boy with the next highest total. Bobby Galbraith made the record of placing first in the fancy dive event in every meet in which he competed.

As a recognition of the excellent record of the Swimming Team, and in view of the prominence that water sports now occupy in intercollegiate athletics, the Board of Managers of the Athletic Association raised the standing of the Swimming Team from a minor to that of a major sport. The Varsity R is now awarded to members of the Swimming Team who score ten or more points in intercollegiate competition.

Although Captain Sherwin and Mort Redmond are lost through graduation, prospects for next year's team are indeed bright. Candidates who failed to make the team this year are rapidly improving under the tutelage of the best swimming coach in the country—"Jim" Reilly; and of next year's Freshman class will probably be recruited still other aspirants.

LEHIGH, 20; RUTGERS, 33.—In the first meet of the season, held at the Ballantine pool, Rutgers won over Lehigh. This was the first meet scheduled to decide the Eastern Collegiate Championship, and Rutgers started out along the right path. The only first place Lehigh was able to secure was in the plunge for distance.

M. I. T., 23; RUTGERS, 30.—In perhaps the closest meet of the season, with Galbraith out on account of injuries, the Scarlet had to work its hardest to come out on top. The Tech men took first in the dive and plunge, and with the second and third places they were able to gather the score was tied at 22 points each when the last event, the 100-yard swim, was contested. Giebel and Ross came in first and second, respectively, bringing victory to the Scarlet.

C. C. N. Y., 14; RUTGERS, 39.—Although badly crippled immediately after mid-years by the ineligibility of Ross, Galbraith and Hearn, Rutgers went to New York and defeated City College in their pool; the home team taking first only in the plunge.

SWARTHMORE, 9; RUTGERS, 44.—Before the guests at the Junior Prom the Swimming Team, once more with its full quota of men, easily defeated Swarthmore swimmers. Schaeffer began to get in form in the plunge, and beginning with this meet took first place in all the rest but one.

JOHNS HOPKINS, 21; RUTGERS, 50.—At the deciding meet for the Eastern Collegiate Swimming Association Championships the team established itself decisively as the leader in this association.

SYRACUSE, 8; RUTGERS, 45.—Defeating Syracuse by the largest score made this season, the Swimming Team won its last home meet. Syracuse was able to win only one second place—in the dive—the balance of the honors going to the Rutgers mermen.

SPRINGFIELD, 22; RUTGERS, 31.—Invading New England, the Jersey representatives finished their schedule of dual contests by defeating the Y. M. C. A. College in a closely contested meet.

by leading the entire field of entries with little difficulty. Although no points were counted officially, on the basis of places won, the result of the meet was:

The Rutgers aggregate of points was obtained by taking seven of the possible eight first places, three each of seconds and thirds, and four fourths. In this meet Captain-elect Giebel lowered the record for the 50-yard back stroke by three seconds, setting the new mark at 32s. for the distance.

INTERCOLLEGIATE INDIVIDUAL CHAMPIONSHIPS: Giebel secured first place in the 220-yard swim, with Ross coming in fourth. In this event Leo lowered the intercollegiate record to 2m. 27 1-5s.

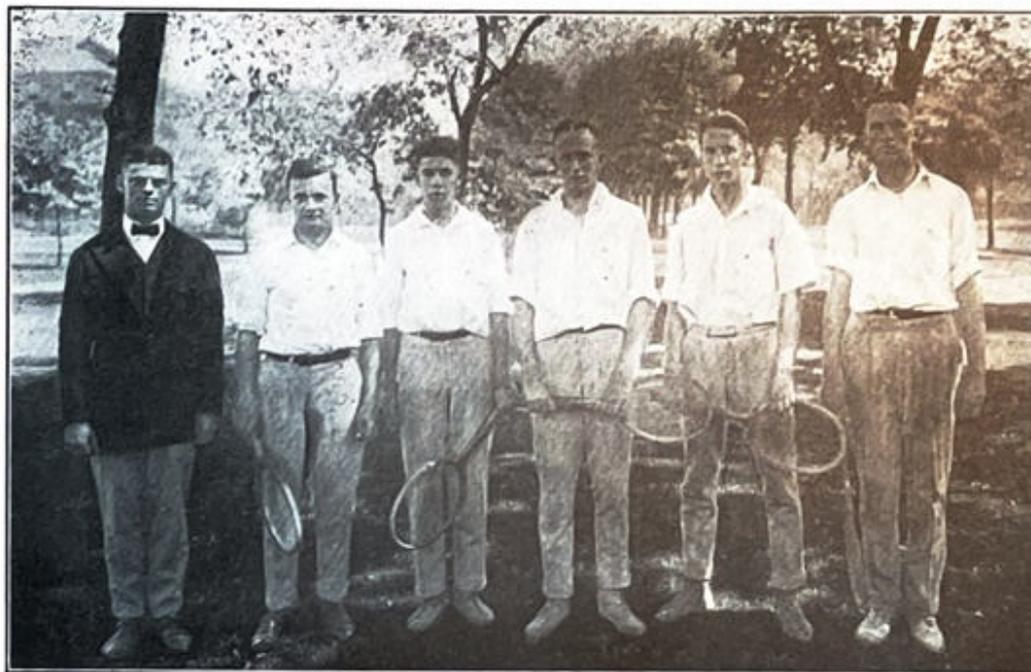

At the end of the season Leo Giebel was elected to captain the team for 1922.

It cannot be said that the Tennis Team had a Red Letter record in 1920, but, considering the fact that their schedule was a stiff one, they deserve full credit for the showing they made. At the close of the season W. R. Boocock was chosen captain and G. B. Keeler manager for the year 1921.

LACROSSE TEAM, 1920

Lacrosse Season 1920

It was late in March when about twenty men started to pass a ball around with the assistance or rather, as it seemed to them at first, the hindrance of what is commonly known as a lacrosse stick. They had decided to organize a Lacrosse Team. Fifteen of the candidates had never seen a game played and only three had felt the kindly touch of one of the above-mentioned sticks across the shins. The outlook was very doubtful. The fellows were determined, however, and it was not long before they handled the sticks like a natural limb, and when they went to Swarthmore the only thing about them that didn't look like a lacrosse team was their equipment. They carried their "clubs," but gloves, helmets and other armor were missing. The boys put up a hard fight with the Swarthmorianians, but were decisively defeated. The one bright spot in this first season of the sport was the victory over the New York Lacrosse Club by the narrow margin of one goal. Of the teams played Johns Hopkins administered the severest trouncing. But if it is considered that the Hopkins team was National Champion while we were but "infants," and that they were held to a 3-0 score to the end of the first half, there is no reason to feel anything but elated at the showing of our team.

The Lacrosse squad of 1920 labored under difficulties that only the inspiration of their real love of the sport enabled them to overcome. Equipment? They dug it up by themselves. Bizarre indeed was the appearance of the team when they made their debut on Neilson Field. All varieties of athletic equipment were presented in the habiliments of that one squad. Shoes of the tennis or basketball courts, or football field; jerseys of all variety in shape and color; helmets, none at all; and sticks—the only real Lacrosse equipment that was in evidence—they bought themselves. Expenses on trips were in large part paid out of their own pockets.

The team was organized spontaneously. In the fall, few on the campus knew the game except by name; when spring came every one was fluently conversing about the sport. Such was the interest it commanded.

Hence, it was only proper that the Athletic Association should give the men who played on the team some recognition. The Board of Managers awarded the LRT to those members of the team who had played in a majority of games; and what is more to the point, made provision in the budget to equip the team for the coming season, and guarantee expenses on trips, and to teams that are to play here.

Dr. Graham, who coached the team during its first year, has left to accept a professorship at Dartmouth. The services of a professional coach have been secured, however, so the efforts of the men will not be without direction.

With the advantages of experience, recognition, and equipment, there is now every encouragement to the team. May it develop and attain that same prestige that marks the teams of Rutgers in all other sports.

CROSS-COUNTRY TEAM, 1920

Cross-Country Season 1920

The year of 1920 saw the successful end of the second season of cross-country at Rutgers. We won all our dual meets, coming second only to the winning Lafayette team at the Middle Atlantic States Championships, at South Bethlehem. Great credit is due Coach Anderson, who has developed such a strong combination in so short a time.

The team opened the season with an easy win over C. C. N. Y. on October 22nd. Douglas led the field home, followed by Captain Crane, the score being 21-34.

The next week the team journeyed to South Bethlehem and avenged the defeat they sustained last year at the hands of Lehigh, winning by the score 24-31.

On November 6th the Scarlet gained their third victory, this time defeating Delaware, 24-31. The race was run over the home course in excellent time.

At Van Courtland Park in New York, two weeks later, Douglas again led the hill and dalers across the tape for their fourth victory over Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute, 16-39.

The last race was the Middle Atlantic States Championship, held at Lehigh over their very hilly course. We finished second to Lafayette, but led Muhlenberg and Lehigh across the tape at the finish.

"BOB"

The good work of Douglas, who placed first in every race, in no small part accounts for the success of the Scarlet Team. He was closely followed in all his races by Captain Crane and Robbins, with Clickner, Kenny and Crowell pressing each other hard on the home stretch.

Last year cross-country was considered part of the Track Team, and the only recognition that the hill and dalers secured was the award of the Track letter—providing that they met the requirements for the regular award. At the close of the season just past, however, cross-country was recognized as a distinct sport and the R, with accompanying insignia C-C awarded to the men who made the team.

Athletically, Rutgers is growing in leaps and bounds. Swimming has been made a major sport; Lacrosse has been recognized and is supported by the Athletic Association; and now Cross-Country, until last year considered part of the track team, is given its own and individual place among the other sports.

Although intimately connected with track, there is this distinction: most cross-country men make the track team, while every track man has not the endurance required of a man to be able to run over the long courses of cross-country competition.

Thus it is only proper that, for their distinct skill, these men should be awarded a distinctive insignia.

At the end of the season Robbins was elected captain of the team for next year. In spite of the loss of Captain Crane, Crowell and Clickner by graduation, "Robby" looks forward to a season next year in which the Scarlet will not suffer a single defeat. With indoor track during the winter, and regular outdoor events when spring comes, track men have the opportunity of keeping in condition and practice all the year around; and present indications seem to point that next year will see Rutgers leading everyone over the hilly courses.

The Honor System was introduced at Rutgers in the fall of 1920. The covenant of the system here is much the same as at other colleges.

It is the function of the honor board to hear in formal trial all charges of violations of the code and, on the evidence submitted, to make proper recommendations to the faculty for action.

The Targum

The Targum has passed the half century mark in its existence as the College paper. The period of 1920-1921 finds the publication in its fifty-second year. From a yearly publication, in 1867, it was changed to a monthly, in 1869. Through trying periods it then emerged as a bi-monthly and then a weekly. In 1919 it was changed from a pamphlet to a newspaper form, a change that facilitated publication and which was met with distinct approval. The present staff has endeavored to carry on the new form and in many ways has improved upon the details of the paper.

Dr. Newton, who for many years has undertaken the work as treasurer of The Targum, recently offered his resignation and was succeeded by Mr. W. P. Garrison, Graduate Manager of Athletics. Dr. Newton's services to The Targum have been greatly appreciated and the opportunity is taken at this time to express the sincere gratitude of the paper and its present representatives, and to extend to Mr. Garrison the hope of a successful administration.

Due to the efforts of The Targum during the latter part of last season the Honor System was brought to a vote by the College and was carried by a generous majority.

A new step was taken by The Targum when it voted to present each year to the Editor and Business Manager the emblem, in the form of a key, which was chosen by the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association and intended as an award for the heads of the college newspapers.

The Y. M. C. A. work of the year really begins with the great Student Conference held during the latter part of June at Silver Bay on Lake George. Rutgers was represented by seven delegates, and considerable preliminary work in the formation of plans for the following year was accomplished. At the setting-up conference of the Cabinet, held during the week-end immediately preceding the opening of college, the plans formed at Silver Bay were enlarged and perfected, and the various details of the year's program worked out.

The work of helping the Freshmen with their schedules on Registration Day, and of securing rooms in town for those who were unable to find accommodations on the campus, was carried out as usual. A special committee was organized to visit the Freshmen in their rooms, give them a hearty welcome to Rutgers, inform them as to the various churches in town, and encourage them to attend one of the churches of their denominational preference.

The Freshman Reception was held as usual. The work of getting out the Handbook was completed during the summer, but owing to printing and binding delays, over which the Association had no control whatever, delivery was not made until nearly a month after the scheduled time, and a considerable part of the value of the book to the new men was thus lost.

The Wednesday evening meetings this year have been unusually successful. Good talks by excellent speakers have been the rule, and a good average attendance has resulted. The open discussion meetings, while not so well attended, have been of exceptional interest.

Instead of the usual invitation in Chapel to membership in the Association, a committee of forty, under the leadership of the Membership Chairman, made a complete canvass of the college, explaining the privileges and obligations of membership, and giving membership cards to all who felt that they could conscientiously sign the objective card. This campaign resulted in nearly five hundred members, not so large a proportion of the whole student body as usually enroll, but a more satisfactory membership, it was felt, in that each man had been able to consider more carefully what membership in the Association involved.

Owing to the fact that the City Association has given up, for the time being, its Americanization work, this part of our program, which began so auspiciously last year, has been temporarily discontinued. In its place a comprehensive program of big brother work in co-operation with the local Red Cross and the City Probation Officer; of Boy Scout work, Sunday School teaching, and social settlement work is being undertaken under the leadership of the Chairman of the Social Service Committee. Six or eight men are already acting as "big brothers" to boys in town, two others are serving as deputy scout commissioners, ten more are giving special instruction among the different scout troops, a number more are acting as assistant scoutmasters, and several are teaching classes in Sunday School.

Several deputations have already been sent out to different parts of the State, and there is every prospect of a good season in this department of the work.

The Philoclean Literary Society has become firmly established as the leader in the Literary pursuits of the college. Not only are the high standards maintained in its meeting the indications of this, but again Philoclean has come forward and piloted the Interscholastic Debating League through a most successful year. Philoclean has also been instrumental in continuing the interest in intercollegiate debating and in maintaining the prestige which Rutgers has ever held in this form of intercollegiate contest.

The consistent attendance of members throughout the year has been proof of the excellency of the literary programs and of the fact that Philoclean looks out upon a future filled with usefulness both to its members and to the college.

For the seventh time the Interscholastic Debating League, under the skilful leadership of a Philoclean committee, proved an overwhelming success. Some 325 delegates, representing 125 high schools, were entertained at New Brunswick on January 8, 1921, and after the plans were laid for the best season yet, talks by Speaker Hobart, of the New Jersey House of Representatives, and Mrs. Douglas Robinson, sister of the late Theodore Roosevelt, were the means of adding anything that might be lacking in inspiration and enthusiasm.

The Rutgers Menorah Society, a branch of the Intercollegiate Menorah Association, was organized in 1913. The purpose of the society is primarily to promote an interest in Jewish ideals and culture. It aims to invoke a knowledge of the wealth of Hebrew literature, in relation to its contribution to American thought.

The society is all inclusive and non-sectarian. The membership consists of divers convictions, private religious opinion being left entirely to the individual. The strength of the society lies in the true catholicity of its spirit.

During the past year, at the regular meetings of the society, a number of men prominent in the affairs of the world of today spoke before members of the society.

This year marks the formation of the band as a college organization. Although connected with the R. O. T. C., it maintains its distinct position in college life apart from affairs military. A constitution has been drawn up and regular officers are elected.

The organization has served well during the past year. Their presence at football games and student gatherings has shown the college what they can do in accompanying singing and leading triumphal marches.

Survey Editor—C. A. DOEHLERT

The Club activities from the time of last year's report show that the year has been one of action. Although the Agricultural Fair project was nipped in its prime by the outlaw railroad strike of last Spring the more than State-wide publicity and the large array of exhibits obtained proved that a Fair was not too big a thing to undertake. It is hoped that the Club will renew this activity under more favorable conditions.

The Field Day held last June displayed the athletic prowess of our "profs" and students in keen rivalry. This friendly spirit has been pleasantly maintained in the four Smokers held at the various fraternity houses on the Campus.

Another innovation of the Club is the awarding of medals to members of the Intercollegiate Judging Teams, encouraged probably by the signal success of the Fruit Judging Team and which brought home the Trophy awarded by the Eastern Intercollegiate Fruit Judging League.

Chemical Club

President.....JOHN CLARENCE BROWN
Vice-President.....CHARLES IRWIN POST
Secretary-Treasurer.....GEORGE W. SOOY

The purpose of this organization is to keep the undergraduate members acquainted with the latest developments of the Chemical Industry, to encourage some individual research work and to promote better acquaintance between the faculty and the undergraduates.

For this purpose meetings are held once a month and smokers at frequent intervals.

This year the Club consisted of fifty-two undergraduates and members of the faculty associated with the Chemical Department. We are looking forward to an even larger membership the following year.

OFFICE'S

President .....	W. R. LEBER

Treasurer .....	F. W. DETTLINGER

Honorary Chairman .....	PROF. R. C. H. HECK

Rutgers has now a Student Branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. Last fall, due to the untiring efforts of the Constitutional Committee, the Club was awarded a charter by the national organization. This comes as a result of two years' hard work and the "Mechanicals" can feel a just pride in their achievement.

During the past year Rutgers has been well represented at the national conferences of the A. S. M. E. Student Branches, attended by representatives of Columbia University, New York University, Stevens Institute, Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn and Cooper Union.

The Rutgers College Student Chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers was originally the Civil Engineering Club, as organized by the class of 1908. The work of the club was started at the beginning of the year with unusual spirit.

A membership campaign was instituted and every member of the Senior, Junior, Sophomore and Freshman classes pursuing the Civil Engineering Course was enrolled. The Society then became affiliated with the American Society of Civil Engineers as a Student Chapter. Such affiliation has a twofold significance; First, the club is of national importance; and, second, it makes it possible for Rutgers men to hear men of authority in the engineering world.

The attendance during the year far surpassed that of previous years. Due to the assistance of its faculty members, the Society enjoyed many talks and illustrated lectures of great value throughout the year.

Biological Club

President .....	C. A. PERRY, '21
Vice-President .....	C. A. FRANKLIN, '21
Secretary .....	W. E. CALLISON, '22
Treasurer .....	D. G. KUHLETHAU, '22

The origin of the Biological Club is the Lab Club, which was formed as far back as 1895. The present club was not formed as a separate body until 1910. Since then it has grown considerably and much interest has been taken in it by those pursuing scientific courses.

Its purpose is to create an interest along biological lines and to acquaint the students with the more modern and practical biological and medical happenings.

Bi-monthly meetings are held, at some of which lectures are given along biological lines. Among the lecturers of this year were Dr. Nelson, Dr. Crozier and Dr. Devan.

El Círculo Español was formed with the object of promoting interest in Spain and Spanish-speaking countries and in Spanish and Hispano-American ideals, customs and language.

Meetings are held the second Friday of each month. At the January meeting a number of lantern slides of South American views were shown. In March Professor Cross gave a talk in Spanish. The club has been in communication with some consuls from Spanish-speaking countries, and it is hoped to have some outside speakers address the club in Spanish.

The aim of the Musical Clubs this year has been toward a large number of concerts at places within easy traveling distance of New Brunswick, rather than an extended trip comprising only a few concerts. With this end in view the manager arranged a schedule comprising seventeen concerts, equally distributed throughout the winter and including the following cities: Jersey City, Rahway, East Orange, Bloomfield, Ridgewood, Easton, Pa.; Plainfield, New Brunswick, Perth Amboy and White Plains, N. Y.

The faculty allowed the Clubs more cuts than usual this year and the great success enjoyed practically insures the continuation of this leeway.

In view of the excellent reputation made in the towns where concerts were given this season the prospects are very bright for succeeding years, as performance is the best advertisement. The Glee and Mandolin Clubs form Rutgers' oldest organization, having just completed the forty-first consecutive season, and never were prospects so bright for the future.

Annual Concert Course 1921

True to the promise of last year, this concert course proved to be the most attractive that has yet been offered. For some seasons past students of Rutgers College and the town people of New Brunswick have enjoyed a series of concerts by leading musicians and singers. The interest taken in these courses is well illustrated by the fact that capacity audiences attended each of the concerts. They have become an institution with us, and each year we find them more enjoyable. The concerts form a distinct contribution to our education while at college, in that they provide us with an opportunity to add one more touch of refinement, one more touch of culture; in short, they make our education well rounded. We appreciate this opportunity—as is only proper; for music is one of the finest things of life and its appreciation marks the real qualities of man, for has it not been said,

“The man that hath not music in himself
Is fit for treason, treachery and spoils.
The movements of the spirit are as dark as night
And his soul is black as Erebus.”

Although we cannot, in our limited talents for the appreciation of music, claim to follow entirely the interpretation the artists endeavor to present, we can all recognize and admire the beauty and true art of the renditions we have heard.

It is due entirely to the efforts of Mr. McKinney that we have been able to attend these concerts. Each year he has secured artists of national repute to entertain us in town. Preliminary work for the program next year is well under way and promises to give an even more enjoyable course. The program for the season past follows:

As a fitting start for the Junior Week festivities the Queens Players, in conjunction with the Mimes Players of the Women's College, presented Louis N. Parker's "Pomander Walk" in the High School Auditorium on February 17. It was a distinct success, especially in view of the fact that dancing to Johnson's Orchestra followed the performance.

This is the third time in as many years that the two clubs have worked together, and the calibre of the performance they are now able to present is the best indication of the value of co-operation between the two societies.

The House

Some people scoff and say such happenings
 Belong to idle fancy, not to life;
 Some say such acts have died out long ago.
 But there are those can tell you stranger things
 That cut you, sear you like a red-hot knife,
 Who have not lived so long. Just this I know:
 The house stood there.

The town some squalid hovels off the beat
 Of money-seekers, still, doors tightly shut.
 No life was there, no grass, no animals.
 Barren: a winding rut the only street.
 A great white building set across the rut,
 A mansion winged with high, white limestone walls,
 The house stood there.

The great front rose up from the stinking soil;
 No steps; the bronze door hung flush with the clay;
 Two large, dark-curtained windows flanked the door.
 The walls stood straight and drab in rigor royal.
 And fast within its fertile acres lay
 Men starved; but with its storehouse full, and more,
 The house stood there.

The small and great walked up that wretched path
 And faltered not until they heard the hum
 Within the huts, the strangled ghoulissh cries
 Of gruesome welcome. Pawns they of the wrath
 Of one all-powerful, on would they come
 To where, grim altar of the sacrifice,
 The house stood there.

They came, sent by the workers far and near,
 Some weeks but one, some weeks fifteen or more.
 None dared refuse; none turned; all slowly went Within. Received as ones awaited long, and dear,
 They lived and feasted, pampered to the core,
 And waiting, as they wondered what it meant,
 The house stood there.

Each night there came again that savage hum;
 The huts disgorged, the scavengers rushed out.
 Men, women—naked, seamed with filth and grime;
 Weak, haggard, starving—brutish, fiercely dumb;
 They struggled to the door and stood about
 With dogged air, while, biding well its time,
 The house stood there.

A hundred, fearing but one sacrifice
 For them to tear. One curtain drew aside,
 Disclosed a feast they gave the savage.
 Two men, one fat, gorged there before their eyes.
 The curtain closed; the wolves for vantage vied.
 Calm, as it spewed the mangled corpses out,
 The house stood there.

These happenings, they say, are crazy dreams;
 There never were such people, such a house;
 That bronze door never glinted in the sun.
 But not so long ago such ghastly screams
 Were echoed through the world, and gay carouse Preceded horrid death. These deeds were done;
 The house stood there.

The Smoke Charmer.

There's a witching little maiden
 Comes before me as I dream
 In my armchair by the fireside
 While the dying embers gleam—
 Just an airy, fairy creature
 With a head of golden curls,
 And with eyes that dance in mischief,
 When my memory unfurls
 From the smoke of my tobacco
 Such a vision of delight
 Would enrapture any mortal
 As it falls upon the sight.

For my vigil's well rewarded
 When, on wreaths that twine and kiss,
 Dancing down the clouds of fancy
 Comes my Pipe
         Dream
             Miss!

'Tis a magic, luring charmer
 Formed of smoke and dream and air,
 Trips to greet me in the firelight
 As I sit in fancy there—
 With a form of passing fairness
 And a pair of dainty feet
 That come twinkling thru the smoke-rings
 In a silence low and sweet;
 And there dances, with her laughter,
 Such a dimple of desire
 I am wafted into Heaven
 On a flame of leaping fire:

'Til the dream is lost forever
 When my pipe goes out, and bliss
 Fades away upon the night-wind
 With my Pipe
         Dream
             Miss!

RONALD BARRETT KIRK.

Spring.

I think that Spring will come again this year
 —In sudden music from the valley ways—
 A flare of color and a hidden flower—
 A flame across the sun-dawn of our days.

I shall hear laughter that were deaf to ears,
 Suddenly—from the silence of the night;
 And light on blowing flowers, we know not where,
 And fairy feet that dance too swift for sight.

Then I will know some restless old desire,
 That whispers softly from a troubled sleep;
 And roads will call me—and the blinding sun—
 And things unutterable and swift and deep:

Ghosts that were ancient when the earth was young
 And many colored dreams I could not know,
 Small brown forgotten hands, that cling and kiss,
 Will come to me at dusk—and beg to go

Over the long, swift hills of fairyland
 To heart's desire, and love, and memory;
 —For Spring will come down hidden trails some night
 With a gay garland of old dreams for me.

And all those dreams, so beautiful and fair,
 Fashioned from rose-leaves and a glint of gold,
 Follow and call me to be gone away
 Whence Spring will come—by trails forgot and old.

And, somehow, I shall know them, as a soul
 Remembers even thru the unloved years,
 The little things—that made him love her more—
 Laughter and song—the bitterness of tears—

So will my heart leap from its spirit bands
 Unto the glory of a steadfast star;
 And I will linger in the land of lands—
 Springtime—a flame—a splendor from afar!

RONALD BARRETT KIRK.

Just You.

I kissed you. Your head reposed on my breast
 'Mid feelings of shelter, of love, and of rest.
 My arms held you close. Oh, those arms were so bold.
 Heart beat against heart in their passionate hold.
 I sighed, dear, my breath quite taken from me,
 And you sighed, my own. Greater joy could not be.
 Your lips clung to mine and I prayed in my bliss
 They might never unclasp from that rapturous kiss.

I kissed you. My heart and my breath and my will
 In delirious joy, for the moment, stood still.
 Life then held for me no temptations, no charms,
 No haven of pleasure outside of your arms.
 Oh, were I this instant an angel possessed
 Of the glory of peace that is given the blessed,
 Would fling my white robes unrepiningly down,
 And tear from my forehead its beautiful crown
 To hold you once more in that heaven of rest
 With my lips upon yours and your head on my breast.

I kissed you. My soul in a bliss so divine
 Rose and soared as I cherished you then as but mine.
 And delicious the thought then to die if but death
 Would come while my lips felt the warmth of your breath.
 Delicious to die if my heart might grow cold
 While my arms held you fast in that passionate fold.
 These are the questions I ask day and night:
 Must my life taste but one such exquisite delight?
 Would you care if my breast were your shelter as then?
 If we were to meet, could I kiss you again?

Mountain Cabin.

Cabin of mine, in the mountain,
 Where the wind whispers low in your eaves,
 And the sun rises close to caress you
 Thru ribbons of gold that it weaves;
 By the pathway that leads to your doorstep
 And the flowers that grow close to your wall,
 I would I were free and might answer
 Your magic, low, lingering call—

I would come to your shadow and listen
 And dream with you, cabin of mine,
 And whisper low words that the night-wind
 Would bear to the flower and the pine.
 In my dreams I would come and lean closer
 And smoke my old brier at your door;
 You would know then, old cabin, and hold me,
 And call me your sweetheart once more.

I know that the flowers would grow sweeter,
 I know that the rain would be low,
 And the wind would blow soft, and remember
 Her lover of aeons ago—
 Ah, cabin of mine, in the mountain
 How I long to creep close to your fire—
 With the rain dropping soft on your rafters
 And the smoke rising up from my brier.

So remember, our loves cannot vanish
 Tho we pass to the beautiful shore,
 And, living or dead, you will find me
 In aeons to come, at your door—
 Just smoking my blackened old brier
 (The pipe that we relished the most)—
 Just dreaming old dreams in the firelight,
 An old cabin there—and a ghost!

Don't Let Us Worry You

Please, ladies, withhold your motherly instincts to grab this child and save it from a horrible death, but it is perfectly safe where it is.

Here's the idea—his old man was a pickpocket in the Congo district and used to sell ice in Alaska, therefore, according to the Mendelian law, the kid inherited sticky fingers and the little dear makes the wall his romping ground. Moreover, although the eye cannot scrutinize to so fine a discretion, yet there is a folding wash boiler, containing bottles of soft stuff so that the child may have a comfortable landing place when the little lamb tires of his play and floats blithely downward. No, no, kind reader, it matters not if he misses the downy life-net, for he is equipped with a peculiar apparatus for said emergency. You might just as well be acquainted with the facts: his father always wore rubber boots even in the worst kind of weather, rain or snow; in fact, he died with his boots on like our ancient "Lil." And so (though Mendel or Darwin may not agree with this forth approaching idea—but imagine the game played according to me and not Hoyle) and therefore through the old man always wearing his boots the kid would, per Dr. Marvin, have his brains covered with rubber. In this case the higher nervous center was located in the domeal region, so that in landing—take notice a baby insists on landing on his head—he just bounces up and down a couple of times and goes right to sleep.

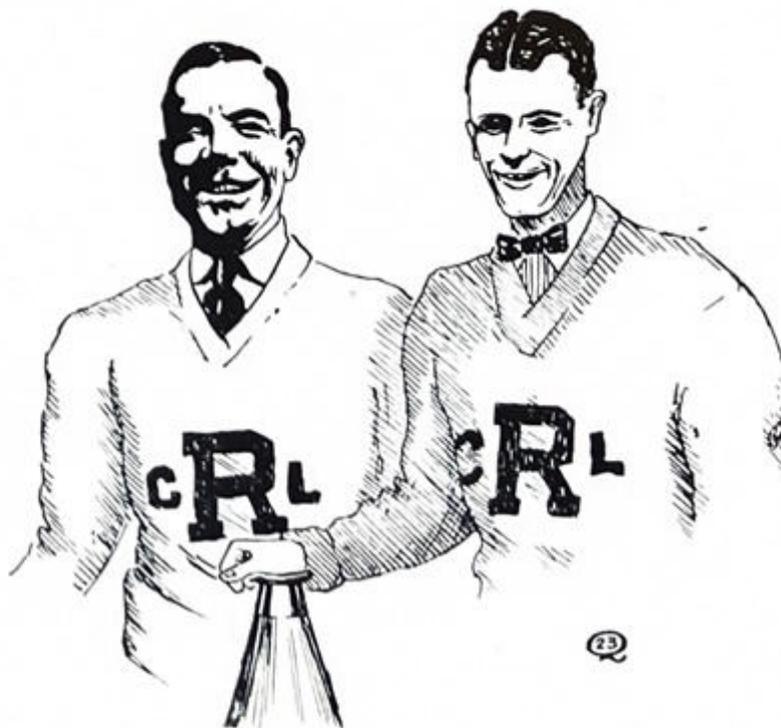

Our American people have choked this kind of child at birth. I hate to preach eugenics to the better class citizen, but the smothering of this wonderful sort of baby should be stopped by the proper authorities. Look at the world-wide good which would result from the propagation of such a species. Think of the trade the five-and-ten would realize if paper-hangers should breed more "Wall Climbers." The child would save many a kink in the hangers neck—not to mention much damning of paste in his eye.

One could train the child so that he would understand the expression, "Go to Roost"; or even do away with this annoyance by merely hanging him around the chandelier for the night and wrapping him in the bird cage cover. In this way one could save the price of a high chair, a bed and many other inconveniences; moreover, on summer nights, when the mosquitoes got bad, just wake the baby and turn him loose to hunt them down.

There are, of course, drawbacks to this so-called "Ceiling Dweller," but, then, every good thing has arguments pro and con (not T. B.). The first of the difficulties is in the inaccessibility of a child perched on the ceiling. What would you do when it was time for—well, say, to give him his milk? Then the baby may take a fancy to the popping of electric light bulbs on the floor below. But these are just childish pranks, of which he will soon tire—you have had children, ladies, and you know how quickly they age—it does beat all. Then, too, some babies are very loving and playful, especially female babies—this trait is known to exist even when they are twenty and twenty-one years old, and, of course, it would be rather disconcerting and might reach the point of annoyance if babies were continually jumping on your neck.

And now, newlyweds, and we can include those more or less accustomed to the life, see if you can't raise the standard of your next baby toward the ceiling and become a martyr to the cause of morals and better world economics.

TIME !

How fleet the dance with one divine,
The thrill that time alone can sever
O Prom Girl, if the chance were mine
I'd wish this dance could last forever.

I never knew a dance could be
So dear a thing before,
Oh cruel tax and taxes! Still,
It might have cost me more.

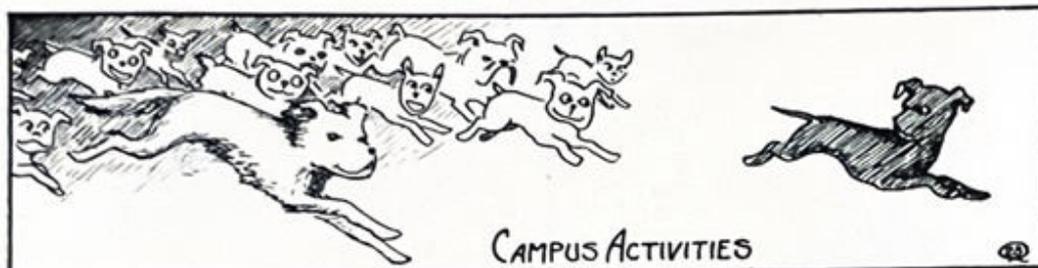

Outside I knew were star-lit skies
The scented dusk of Spring.
She nodded, yes, she'd love to stroll.
O Death, where is thy sting!

The Sophomore Hop was a gay affair
From nine till the music stopped
We toddled, tuddled, and Toddled
That is, we just Hopped and Hopped.

Ode to a Cigarette Butt

Vile smelling, slandered, cast-off thing
 Now spurned by men and swept aside,
 To Lady Nicotine I sing.
 For once you ruled—for you men lied.
 Born and bred in Southern lands.
 Rain, your father—Sun, your mother,
 Dressed in white by gentle hands
 And placed in confinement with nineteen others;
 Purchased with gold to fill man's desire.
 Pressed to his lips contentment you bring;
 Your heart, burning red with smoldering fire,
 Is wasting your body, you coveted thing.
 Man is so fickle (some women, too)
 You'll not hold his love very long, I'll say.
 He'll cast you aside—yes; sad, but true,
 And worship your sister this very day.
 Ah, poor little remnant, did I not speak the truth?
 'Tis a shame you should perish when yet so young,
 But you've had revenge for the loss of your youth,
 For your man, false lover, has a spot on his lung!

New Profs—Continued

KNOCK M. KOLD

University of Experience, 1902-06.

International record for throwing naturals, 1907-11.

Instructor at U. of B. (Underworld of Babylonia), 1911-18.

Head of Department of African Golf, Rutgers, 1921.

EDITOR'S NOTE:—Just exactly one thousand pardons offered separately and severally, but due to his late arrival we have had to place the pedigree of this new member of the faculty in this section of the book.

We might add that Professor Kold is one of the most adept in this department of education, and we are extremely fortunate in inducing him to come from his home at Getjor Point to fill the vacancy so long devoid of an incumbent.

His course here consists in laboratory demonstrations of all the wealth of knowledge he has acquired in his long experience. There is included interpretation of expressions resistless to any bones, such as: "Little lumps of sugar be sweet to me!", and the like. The special training also covers the art of showing the chalk in your eye, palming the cubes and getting enthusiasm when luck is running in the gutter.

We are making a direct appeal to all the students now at college to consider the worth of this course over and against that of any other before choosing an elective for next year, and sincerely hope that the instruction Dr. Kold is good enough to give will be accorded that interest and attention it so eminently merits.

Perhaps no better demonstration of the interest manifested in the course lies in the fact that members of Professor Kold's class work on their subject matter even when far away from dear old Queens Campus. Below is an illustration reproduced from an actual photograph, showing some of the students deeply engaged in extra laboratory work.

Reveries

Snugly you sit in your easy-chair,
 A cloud of smoke you blow.
 Your room-mate's gone—the Lord knows where,
 You shrug; and, content, you turn to stare
 At the dying embers' glow.

Adown the lane to Memory Manse,
 Fond thoughts recall the charms
 When eyes met eyes—she smiles—your glance
 Boldly asks her for a dance.
 She nods—and melts in your arms.

Smooth as the petal of a rose
 From over the Eastern Seas,
 So is her cheek—and warm as those
 Of bashful maids, when swains propose
 To dandle them on their knees.

She hums the tune in cadence neat,
 But—Lord! What's this you hear?
 "You oil can! Ouch! Git off me feet!"
 * * * * *

Sweet memories, sweet—Bittersweet
 Br-rr! You banish your memories dear.

What Is Research?

SUPPOSE that a stove burns too much coal for the amount of heat that it radiates. The manufacturer hires a man familiar with the principles of combustion and heat radiation to make experiments which will indicate desirable changes in design. The stove selected as the most efficient is the result of research.

Suppose that you want to make a ruby in a factory—not a mere imitation, but a real ruby, indistinguishable by any chemical or physical test from the natural stone. You begin by analyzing rubies chemically and physically. Then you try to make rubies just as nature did, with the same chemicals and under similar conditions. Your rubies are the result of research—research of a different type from that required to improve the stove.

Suppose, as you melted up your chemicals to produce rubies and experimented with high temperatures, you began to wonder how hot the earth must have been millions of years ago when rubies were first crystallized, and what were the forces at play that made this planet what it is. You begin an investigation that leads you far from rubies and causes you to formulate theories to explain how the earth, and, for that matter, how the whole solar system was created. That would be research of a still different type—pioneering into the unknown to satisfy an insatiable curiosity.

Research of all three types is conducted in the Laboratories of the General Electric Company. But it is the third type of research—pioneering into the unknown—that means most, in the long run, even though it is undertaken with no practical benefit in view.

At the present time, for example, the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company are exploring matter with X-rays in order to discover not only how the atoms in different substances are arranged but how the atoms themselves are built up. The more you know about a substance, the more you can do with it. Some day this X-ray work will enable scientists to answer more definitely than they can now the question: Why is iron magnetic? And then the electrical industry will take a great step forward, and more real progress will be made in five years than can be made in a century of experimenting with existing electrical apparatus.

You can add wings and stories to an old house. But to build a new house, you must begin with the foundation.

What's in a Name

IN buying trade-mark goods you look for the manufacturers' imprint, whether it is an automobile or a watch.

You wouldn't take any watch the dealer handed you just because the price was $2.00—yet many buyers of printing do this very thing just because it's printing.

Our Equipment, Service and Science make a Schilling Press product better.

They might try to imitate the Schilling Press product, but they can't imitate the name. The imprint is important and the buyer of good printing should look at the bottom of the last page of the books that are so distinctive and different.

The mark of Schilling Press Service is their Imprint.
