THE SCARLET LETTER
OF RUTGERS COLLEGE

1922

EDITED BY
THE CLASS OF 1923

THE advertisers in this book have made its production possible. They represent the widest range of interest, both in the nature of their business and their location. They contracted for their advertising space on the assumption that it would bring them a return; and it is up to every Rutgers man to give his best consideration to those firm names which appear in the advertising section of this volume.

The quality of product of those advertisers whose market is country and world-wide is too well known to require any recapitulation here. Of those merchants of New Brunswick who have subscribed to advertising space let it be said that they have enjoyed the patronage of Rutgers men in years past, and merit such growth in their custom as new classes at college should bring them.

It is a good thing to remember, not only in the case of the SCARLET LETTER, but always, that helping others who help you is always the best of policies.

EXAMINATIONS FOR ADMISSION:

Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 1, 2 and 3, 1922

Thursday, Friday and Saturday, September 14, 15 and 16, 1922

COURSES OF STUDY

THE College offers courses leading to the degrees of A.B., Litt.B. and B.Sc. Under the list are included a general science course, and technical courses in Civil Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, Chemistry, Ceramics, Agriculture, and Biology. The A.B., the Litt.B., and the general science courses permit large freedom in the choice of electives and provide liberal preparatory training for the professions of law, medicine, theology, teaching, and journalism. The technical courses are designed to prepare for industrial positions of leadership, except the course in Biology, which aims to give a liberal training in the sciences, and is especially appropriate as a preliminary to the study of medicine. Short Courses, not leading to a degree, are offered in Ceramics, and in Agriculture.

Foreward

That we may cherish in our heart's treasures, the memories and traditions of a great progressive Rutgers; that her Scarlet banners shall ever be a call for nobler and loftier aims; that in some manner shall be caught that "Spirit of On the Banks" to make and mold life's ambitions, ideals and deeds a challenge to service in a world of need . . . for these purposes do we bring into being the SCARLET LETTER of nineteen twenty-three.

History of the Class of 1922

Four years ago, to us of the Class of 1922, the present seemed vague and far in the future; but now, as we look back, it seems but yesterday that we gathered here for the first time.

Until we returned from Christmas recess we did not know real college life, for all that fall we had been in the Student Army Training Corps. Now the college once again slipped back to its accustomed place. Inter-class warfare instilled spirit in us and called forth the concerted action which every class must have in order to do big things. Through the remainder of that year, through our sophomore year, and through our upper-class years we have striven to take our part and to carry ourselves as true Rutgers men. We have seen 1922 well represented in athletics, and we should not fail to give those who have attained the gold "R" of the Association of Campus Activities their due applause. In the course of our career lacrosse made its entrance during our sophomore year, to be followed in the succeeding year by the honor system, with its manifold advantages both to the student and to the college. Were we to review our banquets and dances we could not do other than count them all the greatest of successes; but pausing and numbering them over we come to our junior banquet, and to each comes the memory of one dear to us all, one who has made us better, both individually and as a class, by his passing into the great beyond.

These fleeting days, with their many escapades, joys, and sorrows, have sunk deep down into our very beings, there to remain at our beck and call.

Thus have we bound ourselves by ties that nought can sever, and when one day we stand and with bowed heads sing "On the Banks" for the last time as an undergraduate body it will be with the realization of a task well done.

Then, classmates, we will go out, each into his own way, and may we all carry with us the ardent desire and the will to see Rutgers ever in the van, and so doing may we count whatever we may sacrifice for the glory of "Old Queens" as a deed worthy of her sons.

History of the Class of 1923

After two years of bitter underclass warfare the Class of 1923 has entered a new period of its college course. Of the two hundred and sixty-five who started their college course three years ago one hundred and forty remain to carry on the work of the class.

A radical change has taken place since the first two years. During the first year in college the class was called upon to uphold its honor in numerous battles with the sophomores, and during the second year it was the task of the class to show the freshmen their place in college life. The days of class rushes are now over and the Class of 1923, after faithfully fulfilling its duties, has assumed its place beside the seniors in helping to determine the attitude of the student body in matters of common interest.

Three events stand out in the third year of the Class of 1923 in college: namely, the Junior Prom, the annual banquet, and the pajama parade.

The Junior Prom on January 27 will be remembered for a long time by those who were present at Ballantine Gymnasium that evening. Bennie Kruger and his Brunswick Orchestra furnished the best dance music that has been heard within the walls of the old building. Nobody will forget "Kitten on the Keys," played by Zez Confrey, the composer, as a solo, and also by the orchestra. The Sophomore Hop of the Class of 1923 was a fine affair, but it failed to compare with the Prom. This year a departure from the past was made when the date of the event was changed from the middle of February to the week following the mid-year examinations.

For the first time in three years the Class of 1923 gathered together around the banquet table and partook of the many good things without the interference of the other classes. This year the affair was held on March 27 at Cavanaugh's, New York City. The eating done at the first two banquets of the class was very little. In the freshman year the class left the tables in the middle of the meal to chase across the city to break up the sophomore banquet. But when the Class of 1923 arrived it found that the sophomores had eaten earlier in the evening and had been enticed by the bright lights of Broadway. As sophomores the same performance was repeated, but on this occasion the New York City police threw out a line of outposts around the scene of the freshmen banquet. Thus the Class of 1923 was deprived again of breaking up the opposing class banquet.

Last spring the annual pajama parade was successfully carried out. At the time of the writing the members of the class are looking forward eagerly to the event this year, when they will have their last taste of inter-class warfare.

As the years pass, the Class of 1923 has assumed more duties and responsibilities in the life of the college. Since its first year in the shadow of old Queens, the class has supported every activity and movement of the college, whether it required physical strength or mental keenness. There is not a single Rutgers team that does not include at least one member of the class on its roster of regulars. In the other college activities, Queens Players, debating, The Targum, the Glee and Mandolin Clubs, the Y. M. C. A. and the various technical and kindred organizations, the members of the class are playing a prominent part.

Only one year more remains before the Class of 1923 takes its place in the line of classes that have passed through four years on the banks of the old Raritan and are now out in the world fighting and aiding in the solving of its problems. For three years the Class of 1923 has been an active body in the affairs of the college. It has not attempted to place itself foremost in the college, but it has waited its turn to apply itself to each task. In every case it has been successful. Next year the class will assume new duties, the greatest during its course, and it expects to maintain the same high standard which has characterized its efforts in the past.

THE HISTORIAN.

SCIPIO HUMBERT AFRICANO
"Scip"

Favorite Character—Darwin,
Favorite Sport—Fussing,
Favorite Dish—Aluminum,
Profession—Doctor,
Expression—"How's that?"

JULIUS VICTOR AFRICANO
"Hop"

Favorite Character—"Doc" Watson,
Favorite Sport—Tickling the ivories,
Favorite Dish—Dissecting pan,
Ambition—Royal flush,
Expression—"What d'ya mean?"

SAUL RAYMOND ALEXANDER
"Axl"

Alex is Scotty's favorite son;
He goes to the blackboard on the run.
He has no fear to volunteer,
For law's his only name for fun.

HERMAN HARRY ANEKSTEIN
"luk"

Favorite Character—Stephen S. Wise,
Favorite Sport—Hitting the books,
Favorite Dish—Ham an',
Profession—"The sign of the three balls,"
Expression—"Too much."

JOHN HARRISON ANGEN

"Red"

Angen's red, Angen's bright,
Angen's just about all right.
He never makes a bit of noise,
Nor does he play with rougher boys.

KENNETH CARPENTER

ANGLEMAN

"Ken"

Ole Ken is a very fine fellow,
With the girls he sure is a wiz;
He knows them all, from Mayme and Dot,
To Frances, Agnes and Liz.

GEORGE RANDALL ATKINSON

"Fedink"

Fedink came to Rutgers to get an education,
But now he's simply trying hard to stick to '23.
He'll be glad when he can give the books their long vacation
And strike out in the big wide world, a gentleman to be.

ERNEST SMITH AYDELOTT

"Ernie"

Now here is a man from the West,
His marks are always the best.
He plunges for fun
And his "R" he has won,
So there's nothing that we can suggest.

WILLIAM RUPERT AYDELOTT

"Bill"

Bill is a man on the track,
A runner of wonderful knack;
A student 'tis true,
Plays the mandolin too,
For ability he doesn't lack.

RICHARD WIGHTMAN
BARKELEW

"Dick"

He plays upon the saxophone,
And, oh, how he can make it moan;
But you should hear the boys all groan
When he takes up the telephone.

FREDERICK SUTTON BARNY

"Fred"

Barny is a soldier bold,
He's wandered far and wide;
Like conquering heroes famed of old
He's sober, staid and dignified.

HENRY MANDEVILLE
BARTLETT

"Hank"

Hank's a gentleman right to the core,
No angel, nor ever a bore;
You may say what you will He'll be right with you still;
Trust Hank to come back for some more.

CRAWFORD STUART BEATTIE
"Stu"

He is a parlor snake and an awful fake
 If that is at all to his credit,
 A medal he'll take when after the cake
 And can he run?—you said it.

JOHN ELBER BEBOUT
"Johnny"

John is a long-legged son-of-a-gun
 Who thinks that to argue is a huge sort of fun.
 An ardent debater, a student is he;
 He cheers for friend Wilson and his Compance.

BEDA VOIGHT BECKER
"Beck"

Louie and Becker work together
 And Charlie Bishop sighs,
 For Louie sells the milk shakes
 That drip on Becker's ties.

ROBERT HENRY BENNETT
"Bob"

Bobby, oh! Bobby! How can you do so?
 I am the son of my dad, Robert-son's cruso.
 It is true among wimmin, I cut up a swell,
 But that's 'cause I lived in the cave for a spell.

EDWARD HENRY BENZONI
"Benny"

Benny is a basketball star,
He flashes round the court;
But playing dates with little girls
Is Bennie's indoor sport.

THOMAS ARTHUR BISSON
"Biss"

Favorite Character—Aristotle,
Favorite Sport—Reading philosophy,
Favorite Dish—The home plate,
Profession—Historian,
Expression—!§!?!?

EARLE KIRKPATRICK
BORMAN

"Earle" "Frog"

Favorite Characters—The Fates,
Favorite Sport—Skirt chasing,
Favorite Dish—Food,
Ambition—Ball player,
Expression—"Got a butt?"

ROBERT ELROY BROKAW
"Bob" "Brok"

Profession—Mechanical Engineer,
Favorite Dish—Trolley cars,
Favorite Sport—Baseball,
Favorite Character—Warren S. Stone.

HERBERT GUSTAVE BROWER
"Herb"

Herb's a mighty man behind the bat;
 He gets them all, both high and low
 No matter if they're fast or slow;
 Herb's a man to wonder at.

LEWIS DAVID BUSCH
"Bush"

Favorite Character—Lowney,
Favorite Sport—Throwing the bull,
Favorite Dish—Tutti-frutti,
Profession—Confectioner,
Expression—"What do you say, kid?"

EDWARD JOSEPH BUTLER
"Eddy"

Always blushes,
 Never fusses,
 Always rushes,
 Never cusses,
 Ain't he nice?

GEORGE JOHN BRENNER
"Georgie"

Brenner descended from old twenty-two
 To join a good class—for awe o' that
 'tis true
 Lacrosse and C. E. when taken together
 Can kick up a storm and pretty stiff weather.

RALPH CALVIN CARMEN

"Brick"

This modest young man is an excellent student
 And formerly trolleyed to classes each day.
 They say that with ladies his conduct is prudent,
 Which doesn't quite jibe with his looks we'll say.

CAROL VAN NESS CASEY

"Case"

Casey is the blond who gets them all,
 For he can sing in church or in a hall;
 But when it comes to dancing the "scandal,"
 There's nothing to it, says our little vandal.

ROLAND WOODRUFF
 CHAMBERLAIN

"Boots"

Favorite Character—Boob McNutt,
Favorite Sport—Driving home the cows,
Favorite Dish—Apples,
Ambition—To make a date,
Expression—"Going out to the farm?"

GEORGE JOSEPH COHEN

"George"

Favorite Character—George M. Cohan,
Favorite Sport—Fussing (so he says),
Favorite Dish—Synthetic eggs,
Profession—Chemist, Expression—Pleasant.

THEODORE CORMAN
CAMPBELL

"Ted"

Campbell is a silent "Ag"
Who always answers "present,"
And then sits back and "listens in"
Looking very pleasant.

ANTHONY RODERICK
COMUNALE

"Tony"

Favorite Character—Garibaldi,
Favorite Sport—Catching a Penn train,
Favorite Dish—Anything in a pinch,
Ambition—Anything to get through Rutgers.
Expression—"How did you get that answer?"

HARVEY R. COOK

"Scoop"

Harvey Cook's a regular "loot";
Has a strangle hold on the captain's boot,
And as a reporter he's quite a rip-
snorter,
And that's about all for "Scoop."

DRURY WALL COOPER, JR.

"Dick"

Our Dick has a masterful mind,
The faculty call him a "find."
His father, they say,
Made him study all day,
For he was somewhat of a grind.

JOSEPH CARMIN

From the land which some call Holy
To the Banks in old Brunswick,
'Tis quite a stiff voyage and rolly;
Better by air than be sick.

CHARLES WESLEY
CUNNINGHAM

"Charley"

Here's to long and lanky Charlie,
Always ready for a parley.
As a waiter he's right there
In manner gay and debonair.

EVERETT FOGG DAVIS

"Ev"

It takes a dark-skinned girl to make a preacher lay his Bible down,
It takes a baritone horn to make such a horrible sound;
But it only takes a girlish blond in a pink satin gown
To make "Ev's" head spin like a merry-go-round!

REGINALD EDWARD DICKINSON

"Dick"

Favorite Character—Tarzan,
Favorite Dish—Oysters,
Profession—Bridge building,
Expression—"How did you do that?"

ARTHUR LAMONT DICKSON
"Dicks"

Arthur Lamont is learning to dive;
 He is our young Apollo,
 But his head keeps floating on the top,
 Because, alas, 'tis hollow.

ALFRED LOUIS DIEDERICH
"Diedie"

If looks were people and "Diedie" were king
 What a beautiful world 'twould be;
 He isn't any rose, but my how he goes
 When he's out for the cross coun-tree.

WOOTON COLBY DILL
"Woot"

There was a fair lad named Dill,
 Who feeds to the swine their swill,
 For out on the farm
 Those piggies just swarm
 When Wooton comes over the hill.

WARREN DIXON, JR.
"Dix"

Our little Dixon's sure a star,
 For on the court he shines afar,
 A rival strong of sounding name
 For William Tilden, man of fame.

WAYLAND AYER DU BOIS

"Duby"

Duby's a boy from Freehold;
Round here he's known as "Joe Brooks."
He wears unbuckled goulashes,
And very collegiate he looks.

NATHAN DUFF

"Beb"

Duff comes from Woodbridge, N. J.
He's got a fine car, too, they say.
But when down in Brunswick he's hard on the books,
And takes all his pleasure when no one else looks.

FREDERIC WILLIAM DUNHAM

"Fred"

Fred's a very quiet lad,
He ne'er lets out a peep;
But don't forget the proverb,
Still water runs cloudy and deep.

EUGENE CLARK DURVEE

"Gene" "Busky"

Gene, Gene, lanky and lean,
At tennis he is not so green;
His "bean" as keen as a college dean,
And a swing with his left that is downright mean.

JOHN MUNN ELLIS
"Jack"

There was a young man named Jack
Who was not so good on the track;
On the basketball court
He sure was a sport,
For at shooting baskets he's got a knack.

OLIVER HERBERT
ENTWISTLE
"Twistle"

Favorite Character—Isaac Walton,
Favorite Sport—Tennis,
Favorite Dish—Buckwheat cakes,
Profession—Hayseed,
Expression—"Fade away."

EDWARD HAROLD ERICKSON
"Eddie"

Erickson's a double "E,"
And Highland Park's his stamping ground.
An engineer he'd like to be
And so his outlook's quite profound.

HENRY FEDERIGHI
"Feddy"

Favorite Character—Balzac,
Favorite Sport—Bull slinging,
Favorite Dish—Pie without the mode,
Ambition—Phi Beta Kappa,
Expression—"See it?"

WILLIAM FISS FINLEY
"Bill"

Oh, Bill, the morning sun glanced on your head
And woke me up; I, forthwith, seeing red,
Claimed that you flashed a mirror in my eye,
So ever since you've worn your hat to bed.

DONALD FOWLER
"Don"

If you ask him to play the piano
He becomes very enraged;
But he can't help that—poor fellow—
It's simply because he's engaged.

FRANCISCO
"Ken"

He's a lank and leany chilly bean;
Around the college he's rarely seen,
But at N. J. C.
He's a busy bee,
For he throws 'em a line that's heavy and mean.

GEORGE CAMP FREEMAN
"Husky"

Husky came along to us from Lehigh,
He came to get a worthy education;
Here he always strives to keep his marks high,
But at home he tills the soil for recreation.

HARRY CARL GEIB
"Crip"

From that burg of Bloomfield there came a guy,
 And he is known to fame,
 For slinging the bull is his favorite sport,
 And Chem is his middle name.

WALLACE HENRY GIBSON
"Wally"

A lock of curly hair,
 A bashful maiden's blush;
 With Wally amongst the damsels fair
 You'll surely see a rush.

EDWIN LOUIS GIDLEY
"Jerk"

In military tactics
 Gidley's quite a fan,
 He's Pershing's only rival
 And Smiley's right hand man.

LEO EDWIN GIEBEL
"Le" "Gieb"

Now Leo is a merman—
 He sure can swim a few;
 He's swam all over the country
 And in Hawaii, too.

JOSEPH JOHN GLATZEL

"Joe"

Joe is a rollicking engineer;
 In football he's quite there too, we hear.
 With ladies his manner is smooth and snaky;
 When calling on girls he's never shaky.

HAROLD DE WITT GOULDEN

"Gouldy"

The trumpets flare, the drums roll out,
 The troops go marching by;
 In the van strides Adjutant Goulden,
 The apple of our eye.

BENJAMIN HARRY GREENWOOD

"Harry"

Favorite Character—Dr. Wright,
Favorite Sport—Catching the 5.15,
Favorite Dish—Full,
Profession—Commuting,
Expression—"Newark's a nice place."

SAMUEL IRVING HAMMOND

"Irv"

Hammond studies very hard,
 He makes a ripping good M. E.
 He's laying by a lot of lard
 To polish up his gilded key.

ARTHUR JEWETT HARRISON
"Art"

Art, he wields the racket high,
He has a wicked serve,
His face, 'tis 'nough to kill a guy,
Art gets his opponent's nerve.

HENRY HEINE
"Hen"

We know that he likes basketball,
We know he likes to wrestle;
But all the girls that know him say
He only likes to nestle.

DOUGLAS MALLORY HICKS
"Doug"

Favorite Character—Slippery Slim,
Favorite Sport—Half mile,
Favorite Dish—Leather,
Profession—Choir leader,
Expression—"Give me knowledge"

ALFRED CHARLES HOBELMAN
"Hobey"

Hobey's an heirloom of "better days";
The faculty hates him, so he says.
He still wants to be an engineer
But the price will be too high we fear.
Better turn Liberal, "Dutch," old dear.

IRVING COLLIER JOHNSON
 "Stretch"

Favorite Character—Mary Pickford,
Favorite Sport—African golf,
Favorite Dish—Onion sandwich,
Profession—Vagabond,
Expression—"Keep out of my room,
 I want to study."

NOEL TAYLOR WELSH KANE
 "Noel"

In this story as yet untold,
 The hero is a lover bold;
 He gets them, wrecks them,
 And casts them away;
 He'll know better some other day.

RENSSALEAR CLARK
 KENYON, JR.
 "Clark"

He's tried all the courses the college has got,
 And still doesn't know if he likes it or not;
 But he's sticking around with a fervent prayer
 That Luther H. Martin won't give him the air.

JAMES IRVING KIBBE
 "Ike"

Blow, blow, thou wintry wind,
 Thou art not so unkind
 As "Ike" when he takes his born
 And blows into its—mouthpiece.

CHAUNCY RODNEY
KLEINHANS
"Rudolph"

Favorite Character—Beau Brummel,
Favorite Sport—Rushing the skirts,
Favorite Dish—Soup and fish,
Profession—Criminal lawyer,
Expression—"How is she .any good
.any neckins?"

HAROLD RODMAN LAMBERT
"Scrappy"

The Glee Club made him famous,
The Jazz Band made his rep;
Boy, strutt your step
And spread your stuff,
You sure have got the pep

WILLIAM FOSTER LECRAW
"Lecky"

Lecky Lecraw is a quiet lad,
Studios and pleasant, he's not so bad
When talking or writing or chewing the rag,
And his liking for literature never does lag.

OTTO E. LINCK
"Tool"

Favorite Character—Ichabod Crane,
Favorite Sport—Tiddle-dy-winks,
Favorite Dish—Sauer kraut,
Ambition—Agonizing harmony, Expression—"That's a mean kick in the neck."

ALLAN BRUCE LINCOLN

"Abe"

Favorite Character—Abe Lincoln,
Favorite Sport—Penny ante,
Favorite Dish—Wind pudding,
Profession—Rooking the Pennsy,
Expression—"I'll bite."

GEORGE MATHEISON
 LINDSAY

"G. M."

Favorite Character—General Byng,
Favorite Dish—Bully beef,
Favorite Sport—Spinning "props," Ambition—Goal tender,
Expression—"Say, man."

PERRY CHAMPLIN LINDSAY

"Perry" "P. C."

Here's to Lindsay, Perry C.,
 He ain't just like he used to be,
 For now he's a regular college man
 And steps right out like "Dapper Dan."

WILLIAM LOGAN, JR.

"Bill"

Favorite Character—Irene Castle,
Favorite Sport—The "Scandle," Favorite Dish—"Jersey" spaghetti, Profession—Waiter,
Expression—"Oh, gee!"

PIERRE FRANCIS LOMET
"Pete"

Peter Lomet is a French lad they say,
An oiler for recreation.
Full many a ship's ta'en him o'er the bay,
Away for a little vacation.

HEBER ANTHONY LOVELAND
"Lovey"

A smiling youth of curly pate,
Who doesn't drink or chew.
Would thou be like this worthy youth
Who never girls eschew?

ALBERT EDWARD O'FAKE
LYNCH
"Alf"

Favorite Character—B. T. Wash-ton,
Favorite Sport—Track,
Favorite Dish—Sandwich,
Profession—M. D.,
Expression—"Do it yourself."

JAMES FEE MACKAY
"Jim"

He wasn't much at languages,
But, boy, how he could factor.
The question now before us is:
Does a hair comb make an actor?

JOHN WILBUR McWILLIAMS
"Jerry"

Favorite Character—Horace Greeley,
Favorite Sport—Parlor football,
Mania—Hot news, "
Profession—Editor,
Expression—"I suppose so."

GEORGE RICHARD MAGEE
"George"

Bow wow, the cats do meow,
Look who's come to town!
Magee, the would-be chemistry shark,
With a fiddle that can't be drowned.

WALTER OWEN MANWARING
"Walt"

Walt has an awful drag,
A noble brow and shaggy hair;
He never goes to dances stag
And shakes a mean one while he's there.

LELAND VICTOR MATHEIS
"Duke"

Quite a career the Duke's been through:
Lacrosse, war, and "rollin' 'em," too.
A dare devil engineer is he,
And long he'll be thought of by '23.

FREDERIC PINK MERRITT

"Fred"

Freddie's quite a devil in the old home town;
In Kingston he's a ladies' man of great renown.
He spends the daylight hours on a dairy farm,
But the Hudson rings at night from Freddie's wild alarm.

HERBERT HERMAN MEYER

"Chief"

Favorite Character—Pocohontas,
Favorite Sport—Chewing the fat,
Favorite Dish—Mac's eggs,
Profession—Milkman,
Expression—"Of all things."

DEAN WARREN MITCHELL

"Dean" "Mitch"

Favorite Character—"Eddie,"
Favorite Dish—Milk,
Favorite Sport—Crosstown hikes,
Ambition—To control his temper,
Expression—"Burn my clothes."

WALTER FREDERIC MITCHELL

"Walt"

Favorite Character—Jim Reilly,
Favorite Sport—Swimming and motor cycling,
Favorite Dish—Corn beef hash a la mode,
Profession—Greasing boilers,
Expression—Just noise.

CHARLES WILLIAM MOONEY
"Charley"

Favorite Character—Charles P. Steinmetz,
Favorite Dish—Dessert,
Favorite Sport—Lacrosse,
Ambition—Phi Beta Kappa,
Profession—Chauffeur.

WILFRED VINCENT MULLIN
"Bill"

Favorite Character—Ben Turpin,
Favorite Sport—Checkers,
Favorite Dish—Irish turkey,
Ambition—Sleeping,
Expression—"What the ——."

JULIUS RICHARD NELSON
"Dick"

Look at this boy from Highland Park,
In agriculture he sure is a shark;
But when with the ladies
He sure raises Hades,
No one can help but remark.

JOHN HENRY NOBLE
"Tertius"

Favorite Character—Taurus, the Bull,
Favorite Sport—The alibi,
Favorite Dish—Mutton (English style),
Ambition—To be a snake,
Expression—"Well —— !!!"

FREDERICK RUDOLPH
OTTMAN
"Freddy"

Here's to Freddy, he's a prince,
A fellow, worthy, good, and true;
He looks as sober as a judge
Because his pa's a preacher, too.

WILLIAM ATWATER COOK
PALMATIER
"Bill"

Favorite Character—William Jennings
Bryan,
Favorite Sport—Laughing,
Favorite Dish—Pickles and ice cream.
Ambition—Lingerie salesman,
Expression—Unfit for print.

LEONARD G. PANCOAST

"Variety is the spice of life."
That is not why I come,
For sure you'll say I'll find a wife;
From Lehigh, shucks! I'm not so dumb.

HARRY FREEMAN
PENNINGTON
"Penny"

Harry's always known of Rutgers,
So when High School finished with him
He began to haunt her structures
And comes to classes with vigor and vim.

NATHAN PERSELAY
"Malta"

Favorite Character—Alexander
Graham Bell.
Favorite Sport—Shooting nickels in a pay station.
Favorite Dish—Motsa, Profession—Lawyer,

ILLO HEIN

Hein saw France in the U. S. tour,
Glad to help out you may be sure;
Although he is married and has a kitchenette,
'Tis bliss to go to college and have a wife to pet.

GEORGE FRANK PILZ
"Doc"

Here's to our old friend Doc,
He's a biolog, true as a rock;
He's not much at fussing,
But exam times he's rushing
To give all the boys his full stock.

FRANK EDWARD PLUMMER
"Frank"

Favorite Character—Uncle Josh,
Favorite Sport—Tossing horse shoes,
Favorite Dish—Oats,
Ambition—To run a farm,
Expression—"Gosh."

RAYMOND VINCENT POTTER
"Ray"

Potter came down by inverted promotion;
He's from New Brunswick, a jolly good boy.
Since he's a "Lib," his books lack devotion;
Pleasure's his goddess; cares do not annoy.

CYRIL JAMES REDMOND
"Cy"

A cavalier, gay, debonair,
With jaunty swagger, chestnut hair,
Who hides beneath this careful dress
A haunting note of pensiveness.

LESLIE EDWARD REIFF
"Les"

Reiff is really very quiet,
Studies for a steady diet;
Even though he's with the crowd
Known in Ford as awfully loud.

CHARLES DONALD RICHARDS
"Sonny"

He's so short and round—built close to the ground
And his feet are so awfully funny;
But in law or finance,
Or with femmes at a dance,
You've got to hand it to "Sonny."

ALAN HOULDSWORTH
RICHARDSON
"Al"

Alan makes the organ talk,
But what does the organ say
In words that thrill and seem to mock?—
"You'll have a Richard-son some sweet day."

PHILIP OGDEN ROBERTS
"Lightnin'"

Robbie comes from "Joisey" City,
The hunting ground of the grafter:
He's always grubbing cigarettes,
So everyone knows what he's after.

GEORGE BOYD ROBINSON
"Robby"

Here we have our business man,
To all he's known as "Robby";
He's as pious as a deacon,
And work's his only lobby.

BARNETT BENJAMIN
ROCHEFSKY
"Barny"

"Rochefsky on the telephone"—
That's the tune that makes us groan,
For then we know that they will talk
For hours straight without a balk.

JOHN LANDON RODDA

"Jack"

Favorite Character—Avogadro,
Favorite Dish—Evaporating,
Favorite Sport—Mixing acids,
Profession—Sweet potato solos, Expression—"Let's go to C. E. (Christian Endeavor) meeting."

CLARENCE ARTHUR ROSS

"Clar"

Favorite Character—Annette Keller-
 man,
Favorite Sport—Chewing gum,
Profession—Fertilizer spreader,
Expression—"I get'cha."

JOHN BROWN ROWE

"Jack"

He journeyed far from Warsaw town,
 Pondering many a scheme;
 He couldn't manage himself you see,
 So he manages the football team.

HENRY FRANCIS SCARR

"Henny"

Here's to "Henny" Scarr,
 The would-be football star;
 He has no rep,
 But he sure has pep,
 And pep with "Sandy" goes far.

KENNETH WOODRUFF
SCHAIBLE
"Ken"

Kenneth's an honest and faithful
"Ag,"
Whose favorite drink is not "Kaffee Hag."
He runs down to Milltown quite frequently,
For he's got a French demoiselle
there, you see.

HARRY HOWARD
SCHOONMAKER, JR.
"Pat"

Now fussing is short for Pat,
And he's a good fellow at that,
But the silk city girls
Need not bob their curls,
'Cause he likes them all ways, that's Pat.

ISADORE BERNARD
SCRUBSKY
"Mike"

Mike no longer peddles candy,
He's a manager now
He's Jim Reilly's "Handy-Andy":
We hand it to him anyhow.

JOHN SCUDDER
"Big John"

A mighty guard is he,
Few women will be see.
No whiskey or gin
Ever rolls down his chin,
And his marks are all "A" or "B."

MORGAN ROE SEIFFERT
"Seif"

Seiffert is an engineer,
A jolly "civil" stude is he;
He also throws a wicked spear
Debating on our varsity.

CARROLL KNAUER SELLERS
"Sell" "Jack"

Sellers started as a "chem,"
Then he changed to "biolog."
At last he's settled as a "lib";
We think he's come from out the fog.

MARKS HENRY SHEYER
"Mark"

Favorite Character—Ike Newton, Favorite Sport—Wielding a sledge hammer,
Favorite Dish—Nuts and bolts,
Profession—Blacksmith,
Expression—"That's small time."

WILLIAM THOMAS SKILLMAN
"Bill"

Favorite Character—Mummies,
Favorite Dish—Muffled whistle-berries,
Favorite Sport—Raising a racket,
Profession—Engineer,
Expression—Yet to be heard.

ARTHUR LELAND MARSHALL
SMITH

"Smitty" "Marsh"

"Marsh" is Johnny-on-the-spot,
He always has a "kodak."
He snaps us whether we will or not,
We never have a come back.

WILLIAM EDWARD SPARKS
"Bill"

Here's to Bill, the Queen of the May;
If you measured his worth
By the size of his girth
He'd sure be the hit of the day.

JOSHUA LEONARD STRAUSS
"Joss"

Favorite Character—Holstein,
Favorite Sport—Plowing,
Favorite Dish—Milk,
Profession—Agrarian,
Expression—"Let's go."

GYSBERT OWEN STRYKER
"Guy" "Stryk"

Gysbert, dear, have no fear,
You'll some day be an engineer;
But don't you worry, don't you fret,
You'll get a job in Bound Brook yet.

THOMAS CARNEY
SUMMERILL
"Tom"

Our worthy editor-in-chief is Summerill, T. C.,
And when pushing his pen he's as happy as can be;
But when he is in Trenton (and this I hate to tell)
He spends his time with Mary and everything goes to h—!

WILLARD FRANKLIN SUTTON
"Ike" "Sut"

Oh, what does our little Willard do
With his time throughout the day?
He tears up packs and packs of cards
And with his tops does play.

LAWRENCE ELTON
SWENSON, JR.
"Swede"

This jolly young chemist called "Swede"
Delights in a good book to read;
But going to bed
With his novel all read,
He would relish a good cup of mead.

ROLAND TAILBY
"Rol"

Where shall we put the roses?
We heard a young lad say
When entered Roland Tailby
With a pot of moulded clay.

DANIEL WOOLSEY
TELLER, JR.

"Tell" "Woots"

Here's to Teller, quite a feller,
At lacrosse he is a heller;
He's our own Dapper Dan,
Not a one woman man,
Is Daniel W. Teller.

JAMES HAROLD TERWILLIGER, 3RD

"Jimmie"

Many of friends and few of foes,
A mile and a half to college he goes;
With a senator's mien and a noble-
man's style,
He's always right there with a gentleman's smile.

RAYMOND JOHN THOMAS

"Johnny"

R. J. Thomas is Johnny Thomas' son,
And, of course, he's a loyal Rutgers
man,
For his dad's been a friend to every one
Who has ever been on the Raritan.

NATHAN TISCHLER

"Tisch" "Nate"

Tischler is a poet,
Every one must know it;
Very uncertain is he
Of fame both high and dizzy.

RUDOLPH VOGEL, JR.
"Rudy"

He's an engineer from Manasquan,
As noisy as a clam;
He loves his books and hates the girls;
Oh, shadows of Balaam!

RALPH HERMAN VON GLAHN
"Von"

He still likes his navy by heck,
Refers to the floor as a deck;
For the Aggies he'll fight,
He has done it all night;
His ambition's to be a roughneck.

ORVILLE JOSEPH WEAVER
"Buck"

Ohio is Buck's proud boast,
So better not give it a roast.
To the "Uproar" he goes
To see all the shows;
Out of college he gets the most.

ARTHUR HUGH WEIS
"Art"

Weis is tall and stately;
He dances quite sedately,
And never speaks irately;
Art's a prince innately.

DAVID PAUL WEISBERG
"Crocodile"

Favorite Character—Uncle Tom,
Favorite Sport—Movies,
Favorite Dish—Aqua regia,
Ambition—Chemist,
Expression—"No place like Florida."

SAMUEL WEITZMAN
"Sniffy"

Favorite Character—Pythagoras,
Favorite Sport—Using guess stick,
Favorite Dish—Plate of logarithms,
Profession—Electrician,
Expression—"Never cut."

GEORGE ROBERT WIRTH
"Nic"

Here's to Wirth from Holy Hill,
Not a tailor, but a preacher
Who will rival Henry Beecher;
Solemn, somber, strong of will.

RALPH HUNTINGTON
WOODWORTH
"Woody"

Woody's a whiz in the finance course;
His work's always brilliant and full of force.
When out with the ladies
He likes to raise Hades;
He's always wearing a smile, of course.

History of the Class of 1924

We had been participating for about an hour in a general "hash party" and were tired of listening to the incessant jabbering of voices. The conversation had already treated almost every subject, from Einstein's theory to the robbery of present day taxi drivers (which was bad enough), but when someone started to talk on "the spread of the loyal order of Shifters through the United States" we—that is, "Pop" and I—cleared out.

"Pop" was in college once himself, although long ago, so it was inevitable that past and present pranks of college students should have become the subject of our conversation. His stories of how they changed the statue of a sedate personage into an Indian chief decked out in his war paint, and of their battles in Winants and Hertzog Halls were all very good, but they sounded more like "Old Siwash" than the truth.

"But, after all," said "Pop," "your class means just about as much to you as your college. How is '24 coming? You see, being an even class myself, you will get all my sympathy."

"As freshmen," I replied, "we went through the standard process of having the green rubbed off, and many of us were fortunate in having this rubbed off so well that scarlet stood in its place."

"Pop" interrupted just then: "Although I don't like to see too many freshmen on the varsity, it did seem good to see some of you (as freshmen) in the line-up."

I continued: "We came through in our rushes with plenty of 'pep,' and usually succeeded in coming out on top. The year closed leaving '24 with a goodly number of college honors and an abundance of the true Rutgers spirit."

"That was a very good start," said "Pop," biting off the end of a cigar, and then added: "I suppose you found it strange when you came back in the fall and realized that you were sophomores."

By this time he had lighted up. I got him an ash tray and then started my story again.

"It was confusing, at first, to realize that we were the ones who had to do the planning, but the planning was done, nevertheless, and the proc rush and freshman pee-rades were run off in a creditable fashion. It was difficult to obtain these results with temporary officers, so we organized quickly, and since then have held several class socials in the gym. These meetings are a novelty around college and through informal discussions and general good times much was done to bring the class together.

"We branched out in social lines this year and ran a wonderfully successful Sophomore Hop.

"Then came the week when the frosh were to put up their 'procs.' The first set we got from the printer and burned them with more or less ceremony at the cannon. There were some more printed, however, and some of these got up, but didn't stay up very long. A majority of the class were out all one zero night to see that no evidences of freshman activities remained in the morning. Paint, knives and bare hands were used successfully and in the morning nothing remained except, here and there, a few blotches of frozen paste.

"At our banquet, which, by the way, was a great success, we repeated the precedent, started last year, of having a member of the opposing class to furnish entertainment."

"Speaking of banquets," said "Pop" at that moment, "I'd like to learn the facts about the Rahway affair."

"To go too much into detail," I answered, "would be useless, but, in short, the class was just about ready to show the college something in the line of warfare. For half a year we had been ridiculed and were resolved to break up the freshman banquet at all costs and clear our name forever. We DID fight. Having already obtained plans of the banquet hall and diagrams of the lighting system, the class went to Rahway. The rest of the story you know. Suffice to say that the freshmen were under the tables (not because of internal influence) most of the time. Bills were run up, but the class met half of the expenses, and the general opinion now prevails that the battle was worth the cost.

"We're half way through now, 'Pop,' and old '24 is pushing its hardest for Rutgers. We—"

Just at that point I looked at my watch. "Good night, 'Pop,' a hard day tomorrow and no work done."

History of the Class of 1925

Out of the mysterious realm of prep school life there came, on the 20th day of September, 1921, a band of three hundred and fifteen men who sought to become Rutgers men. These were the now well known class of 1925.

For a day or so the sophomores were busy giving them a royal welcome. Cheering practice at Neilson Field was not the least of their worries. The proc rush was won by the sophomores, according to custom (the grease on the pole at the Commons was of great assistance to the '24 men), but they still have memories of the fighting spirit of the frosh.

When the football season had passed eight of the twenty-six men who received letters were freshmen, while three of the eight cross-country men were also in the class of '25. Freshmen have represented Rutgers on all the varsity squads so far this year. The frosh defeated the sophs in the annual track meet by a score of 37-32, thereby showing their superiority in that branch of athletics. A freshman basketball team was one of the innovations of the year. While the season was not entirely successful, they showed up well and undoubtedly will contribute much to the varsity teams of the next few years.

During the first term the freshmen showed such ability in withstanding the sophomore efforts during the chapel rushes that the Casque and Dagger decided that no chapel rushes were necessary after Christmas. The three upper classes decided to get together in breaking up the frosh yell in one of the rushes, but though the battle was fierce and hot, some of the first-year men kept going to the bitter end.

The first great social event of the year was the freshman reception, given by the Ladies of the Faculty. Every fellow who attended this function enjoyed himself. We trust the N. J. C. girls did likewise. The class extends its sincere thanks to those who planned the delightful evening.

A freshman debating team is ready to test the strength of any other group of college freshmen in the country.

The stern principle of the "survival of the fittest" came into prominence at the mid-year examinations. Although a number of the Class of 1925 found themselves out of college, non vult, the proportion was less than might have been supposed considering the size of the class.

When the exams were over, the biggest and most thrilling event of the whole year took place—the freshman banquet. Two days before this historic event occurred the freshmen did a most unprecedented thing in tying up a number of the sophs and pee-rading them through the theaters of the city. With perhaps an almost righteous indignation the sophs determined to break up the rival banquet at all costs. They learned that it was to be held in the Cross Keys Inn, in Rahway, on the evening of February 2. As the second course was being served they attacked the place, breaking windows and ferocity records at once. Thanks to a cordon of police and a proprietor who had candles to provide when electric wires were cut, the banquet continued amid flying glass and bricks. Three sophs were unwilling guests. The affair will be remembered by all of the one hundred and fifteen freshmen who attended as one of the most exciting meals they ever ate.

And now the crystal gazer looks into his transparent sphere. He sees the men of 1925 making a name for their class and for themselves during the coming months and years, and beyond that he sees a glorious future, filled with achievement and honor.

Society of the Sigma XI

(Motto-Companions in Research)

FOUNDED AT CORNELL UNIVERSITY, NOVEMBER, 1886.

RUTGERS CHAPTER INSTALLED MARCH 10, 1922.

The Society of the Sigma Xi was founded for the purpose of encouraging research in the sciences. For many years it elected not only those who had made notable researches in science, but also a very small number from the graduating classes of the institutions in which the chapters were located. Within recent years this policy has been abandoned and the election to active membership is now restricted to those who have done acceptable research work. Members of the graduating classes and others who have shown aptitude in science may be elected to associate membership and upon the completion of satisfactory research studies may be advanced to active membership. A chapter was established at Rutgers in 1887 and a few meetings were held, but the conditions were unfavorable for its existence and it became inactive in a very short time. Dr. F. C. Van Dyck is the only resident member of the original chapter. The charter for the present chapter was granted December 28, 1921, and the chapter installed March 10, 1922.

1921 Football Season

The 1921 football season was not a success in many respects, but the majority of the deficiencies can be explained and mixed among the five defeats are several bright spots.

Although Rutgers has twice battled with West Virginia in no decision games and twice has tasted the bitter dregs of defeat, the 1921 Scarlet eleven wound up the season with a victory over the Mountaineers. West Virginia did not consider the Scarlet eleven a worthy foe and instead of placing its best combination on the field sent in a group of substitutes and decided to save the regulars for its Thanksgiving game with Washington and Jefferson. The substitutes were no match for Coach Sanford's pupils; neither were the regulars who were rushed into the game in an attempt to stem the tide of defeat. The final score was 17 to 7.

lapse of seven years, and in a poorly played game at Ohio Field, New York City, scored a 21 to 7 victory. During the course of the game Rutgers used several teams of substitutes.

The great comeback of Rutgers in the Washington and Lee game will linger long in the memories of the followers of the Scarlet. With the score against them, 13 to 0, Coach Sanford's charges made a glorious comeback in the fourth quarter that resulted in a 14 to 13 victory. The opening Scarlet touchdown came after a series of bewildering forward passes, while the second touchdown was due largely to "Turk" Gardner's line plunges.

Although of no great significance, the 33 to 0 triumph over Ursinus is to be considered a feat because the year before the Pennsylvania institution's combination defeated Rutgers.

The blackest marks in the Scarlet record are the defeats at the hands of the University of Maryland and Lehigh. In both contests the Scarlet team outrushed its opponents, but it lacked the final punch to push the ball across the line. In the Maryland game it was the exceptional punting of Brewer that kept Rutgers from scoring and it was his drop kick from the 40-yard line, the longest made during the season by any player in the country, that gave Maryland a 3 to 0 victory. It was several cleverly executed forward passes at the opportune moment that gave Lehigh a 7 to 0 victory.

Although Rutgers went down to defeat by large scores against Georgia Tech, Lafayette and Notre Dame, it must be considered that in these games the Scarlet eleven tested its skill against the leading organizations of the South, East and West, respectively. Against Georgia Tech, Rutgers was the first team to cross its opponent's goal line. Lafayette was the first team that could gain consistently through the Scarlet line, from tackle to tackle, since Coach Sanford has taught football at Rutgers. At the Polo Grounds on Election Day, Notre Dame displayed the most brilliant offensive of forward passes and end runs that has been exhibited on any football field.

When the opening practice was called Coach Sanford had available for the 1921 season: Captain Duffy, Kull, "Turk" Gardner, Summerill, Beugless, and Maloney in the backfield; and Kahle, Eckhardt, Raub, Lentz, Dana and John Scudder, and Kingman in the line. Added to this group were a fine bunch of substitutes and promising freshmen.

At the start of the season Coach Sanford shifted Captain Duffy from his former position at halfback to run the team from quarterback, but the Scarlet leader was later injured and when he returned to the line-up it was at halfback. Maloney directed the team from quarterback the greater part of the time. "Turk" Gardner and Waite proved to be excellent line plungers from the fullback's position, while Benkert was a dependable halfback on both the offense and defense. The other halfback position was handled by Summerill, who took care of end for a time, Kull, Redmond, Terrill and Chandler at different times. Beugless substituted at quarterback.

In the line Kahle again filled the position at center and was seconded by Bender. To handle the guard and tackle positions Coach Sanford had a fine array of talent in Raub, Eckhardt, Kingman, Feller, Smith, Beckwith, John and Dana Scudder, and Keiler. Dickinson filled one of the end positions in an excellent manner and played the most consistent game all season. But the extremity of the line gave Coach Sanford the greatest trouble. After trying out Summerill and Eckhardt he finally settled upon Brennan. Loppacher and Gibson proved to be excellent substitutes.

Every indication is that football at Rutgers is again on the rise and next season the team should be better. Howard Raub has been elected captain of next season's eleven and will have back with him Dickinson, Feller, Smith, Beckwith, Gibson, John and Dana Scudder, Brennan, Bender, Redmond, Benkert, Loppacker, Keiler, Terrill and Chandler, besides a good crowd of substitutes who did not fully develop during the past season. During the 1921 campaign the Scarlet eleven developed a defense and offense in the aerial game which gives promise of being more dangerous in 1922, although it is just passing the embryonic stage.

Coach George Foster Sanford personally handled the coaching of the team and was present at every practice. He was assisted by Frank Kelly, captain-elect of the 1919 eleven, who transferred to Yale and played on the Blue eleven in 1920. During the early part of the season Alfred Neuschaefer '19 helped Coach Sanford and during the latter part of the campaign Clifford Baker '20 filled a similar position on the coaching staff. Other former players were present from time to time to aid in the building of the team.

RUTGERS SECRETLET LETTERMAN

The season opened auspiciously when the Rutgers nine beat Stevens at Neilson Field, 5 to 4, and the following week trounced Union 8 to 2. The first snag was hit on an attempted southern trip. Delaware was the first opponent and Coach Cox did not want to use Flynn until the following day, when the Navy was to be encountered. Leon, who received the task, was not effective and Delaware obtained a lead before Kelly and Flynn could arrive to rescue the Scarlet team. Rain caused the cancellation of the Navy contest. Syracuse was the next Scarlet victim and it took eleven innings before Columbia came out on top by the score of 8 to 7. After a 7 to 4 setback from New York University and a 14 to 3 defeat from Dartmouth, who presented an exceptionally strong team, the final bright spot of the season arrived. Stevens was vanquished for the second time and Manhattan bowed before a 7 to 3 count. The season wound up with defeats at the hands of Swarthmore, Crescent Athletic Club, Lehigh, Lafayette, and the University of Pennsylvania.

MANAGER RUSSELL.

While the varsity was enduring defeats the Reserves enjoyed a successful season and the future varsity players triumphed over Brooklyn Poly, Pennington Seminary, and Peddie Institute, but had their one setback at the hands of Blair Academy.

At the close of the 1921 season indications pointed to a better team in 1922 because Captain Van Orden was the only regular due to graduate. When the results of the final examinations became known Flynn and Winner, our best battery, were among the missing. If some good pitching material can be obtained from the class of 1925 a better season in 1922 can still be expected.

The 1922 Basketball Season

There probably has never been a better basketball team than the 1921-22 five to represent Rutgers since the sport was inaugurated here in 1914. Captain Boudinot and his teammates established an enviable record of ten victories and two defeats. A majority of the victories are notable ones, while the two setbacks were no disgrace, considering the circumstances.

Coach Frank Hill started basketball preparations in the middle of October when he had a veteran squad report to him. Added to these veterans were an experienced group of substitutes.

After opening the season on the Ballantine Gymnasium floor with an easy victory over Drexel Institute, of Philadelphia, 36 to 15, the Scarlet passers encountered a stiff proposition in Columbia. In a hard fought contest before an audience, composed mostly of Sophomore Hop guests, Rutgers won, 28 to 24.

Following the Christmas holidays, court activities were renewed at Swarthmore and Rutgers conquered the Little Quakers, 35 to 27. The following week Coach Hill's pupils met a stiff opponent, the Crescent Athletic Club, of Brooklyn, but the clever team work of the college players was superior to the spectacular individual playing of the clubmen. In the Junior Prom game, Lafayette succumbed to a 38 to 22 score without offering any serious opposition.

MANAGER BEYER

Although Stevens came to Rutgers with a good record, the Engineers did not prove as dangerous as was expected. They submitted to a 40 to 28 verdict in the opening tilt of a two-game series. On the following Saturday, New York University came to New Brunswick, but Captain Boudinot and his cohorts emerged victorious.

At this point, a clean record of seven consecutive victories was marred by the powerful Springfield Y. M. C. A. College five. Rutgers was unfortunate in this game to have Captain Boudinot absent from the line-up due to sickness, for around him the greater part of the teamwork centered. Two nights later, Coach Hill sent in a new line-up against Lehigh, who submitted to a 45 to 28 score.

On Washington's Birthday, Georgetown University attempted to use football tactics on the basketball court, but the clever floor game of Rutgers won the Scarlet quintet a 44 to 27 victory. On the following Saturday, Penn State played as clean a game as the previous opponents had played a rough one. Nevertheless, Coach Hill's charges again triumphed, 35 to 28.

The final game of the season was played at Hoboken. Between the first meeting and this encounter Stevens had improved considerably, while Rutgers had taken a downward slump due to the loss of its leader. Although the battle was hard fought on both sides, Stevens was on its home court and had the upper hand. Many of the winning team's scores were made from a distance and Rutgers could not tally in this manner or penetrate the improved Stevens defense.

Invitations were received to play in the National A. A. U. championships at Kansas City, Missouri, and in the National Intercollegiate Championship Tournament at Indianapolis. The athletic authorities approved of the second invitation, but the faculty refused to allow the team to play.

A great deal of the credit for the excellent showing of the team is due to Frank Hill. Four of the varsity were natural born players, while the fifth member developed entirely through the careful guidance of the Scarlet instructor. Coach Hill fitted these players together to form one of the finest working basketball machines in the country.

Three members, Captain Boudinot, Dornan, and Dettlinger, will graduate in June, leaving Captain-elect Benzoni and Enander to form a nucleus for next year's team, with a well trained group of substitutes.

Freshman Basketball

THE SEASON

Rutgers was represented by a freshmen basketball team for the first time this season. The organization of such a team is looked upon as the forerunner to the introduction of the freshmen rule, prohibiting all first year men from playing on varsity teams.

Although the past season was not an extraordinary one, the freshmen did creditable work in their eight games, of which they won three. Two games were lost by the margin of a single point, while a third setback was at the hands of St. Benedict's Prep, of Newark. Coach Hill also has charge of the latter team, and it, along with Asbury Park High School, one of the Scarlet yearlings' victims, played in the state championship tournament at Princeton. Manual Training High School, of Brooklyn, another conqueror, won the championship of Greater New York. The first year men, following the example of the varsity in defeating the N. Y. U. team, vanquished the N. Y. U. freshmen.

1921 Track Season

The winning of the Middle Atlantic States Conference track and field championships for the third successive season, the establishing of a new relay record for the third consecutive year, the setting up of a new Middle States mark, two new college records, and the equalling of a third, and the capturing of two dual meets by good size scores sums up the accomplishments of the 1921 track team.

Coach Carl Anderson opened the season at the Penn. Relays when his pupils defeated their greatest rival, Lafayette, in the one-mile Middle States relay race in 3 minutes  $25\frac{3}{5}$  seconds and at the same time bettered their own mark, established a year previous, of 3 minutes  $26\frac{1}{5}$  seconds. This was the third year that the Scarlet runners set up a new mark for this event. Captain DeWitt was a member of all three teams, while Fuller and Beattie ran on two of them. This was Ray's first year in the event.

CAPTAIN RAY

The first dual meet of the year was held at South Bethlehem, where Rutgers had little difficulty in defeating Lehigh, 74 to 38. But to gain this victory Rutgers lost the services of one of its chief point gainers, Captain DeWitt, who pulled a tendon while running in the opening race of the meet. Ray and Dettlinger filled the vacancy, but the former was forced to relinquish several chances to win individual honors in closing the gap. In the only home dual meet of the year Swarthmore offered no more opposition than Lehigh and the Little Quakers lowered their colors, 77 to 35.

During the course of these dual meets two new college records were put on the boards and a third one was equalled. Captain-elect Ray lowered the time for the 440-yard dash by covering the distance in  $49\frac{1}{5}$  seconds. The old mark made by Coleman '16 was 50 seconds. Ray also equalled the record of 10 seconds for the 100-yard dash which is held jointly by Havens '12, Bowles '15, and Coleman '16. Meyer broke his own record for the 220-yard low hurdles by topping the sticks in  $25\frac{3}{5}$  seconds, in which his former time was  $25\frac{4}{5}$  seconds.

By gathering 29 points, while the nearest opponent, Lafayette, amassed only 22 counters, the Scarlet athletes won title honors in the Middle Atlantic States Conference track and field championships held at Baltimore, Md., under the direction of Johns Hopkins University. This is the third consecutive year that Coach Anderson's proteges have won the title. Meyer again came to the fore in the hurdles and set up a new record in the 120-yard high hurdles, of  $15\frac{4}{5}$  seconds. In the same meet

MANAGER CLARK

Harmer, of Delaware, made a new record for the 440-yard dash, but Captain-elect Ray has consistently made better time than the new record holder. Because he was forced to fill Captain DeWitt's shoes in the 100 and 220-yard dashes, the new Scarlet leader has been forced to wait until this spring to establish a new mark in this event.

The discovery of Harold Ray and his meteoric climb upward in the track world is one of the many bright spots in the track history of Rutgers. It is true that Ray was a member of the 1920 team, but it was only as a second-rate javelin thrower. It was in the annual 1920 fall inter-class track meet that Coach Anderson discovered that the new Scarlet leader was a promising runner. The Rutgers coach immediately began giving him special attention and when June rolled around his pupil was ranked as one of the foremost cinder path stars of the East.

Three years ago Carl G. Anderson came to Rutgers to direct the track destinies of the Scarlet, and during those three years he has met with success on all sides. Previous to coming to the banks of the Raritan he was crowned with success as coach of the track teams of Central High School, Newark, and through his efforts many of the best track athletes of that city have matriculated to Rutgers. Coach Anderson's material has been promising, but for the most part it has been green. Under the watchful eye of the former Olympic athlete these men have developed until they have become the chief point gainers. He has fitted together three relay teams that have established three new records in the Middle Atlantic States Conference and at the same time his pupils have captured the track and field championships of the association during the same years. In the Middle States Conference Meyer '23 has set new marks for both the hurdle events and at the same time he has twice established new college times for the 220-yard low hurdles. In accomplishing the latter he shattered a mark made in 1909. Captain DeWitt '22 lowered the time for the 220-yard dash, while Breckley '19 and Troup ex-'23 increased the records in the pole vault and high jump, respectively. Captain-elect Ray established a new record in the 440-yard dash, besides equalling the mark in the 100-yard dash.

After going through three seasons with only one defeat and the last two seasons without a single setback, the Rutgers swimming team did not fare so well during the 1922 campaign when there was an even split between the victories and defeats.

The season opened on January 14, with a victory over People's Palace, of Jersey City. This team took the place of Swarthmore, who was forced at the last minute to postpone its meeting with Rutgers. The first defeat was suffered at the hands of Brown. The New England team won because its plungers were superior to the Scarlet entries. Later in the season Coach Reilly developed some men whose performances would have reversed the result. Following the Brown defeat, Rutgers succumbed to the Navy, one of the two recognized leaders of the intercollegiate swimming world. Rutgers was completely outclassed. A few days later the Scarlet mermen conquered Swarthmore without a great deal of opposition.

Lehigh defeated Rutgers for the first time due to the absence of Enander. At this time the basketball team was playing without the services of Captain Boudinot. The athletic authorities thought that the strain would be too much for Enander to make the trip to Bethlehem that day and return to oppose Lehigh on the court in the evening. His absence caused Rutgers to lose the relay and with it the meet. Johns Hopkins and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology did not offer much opposition. In the final dual meet, Yale, the other intercollegiate leader, won. However, Rutgers made as creditable a showing as any other team did against the Blue natators.

Due to the defeat at the hands of Lehigh, Rutgers failed to win the team championship of the Eastern Collegiate Swimming Association, but in the individual championships at Lehigh the Scarlet mermen covered themselves with glory. The Scarlet relay team won, Captain Giebel captured four first places and von Stanley set a new association record in the plunge for distance. The other Rutgers entries also gave good accounts of themselves.

Rutgers again placed two men in the intercollegiate individual championships at the University of Pennsylvania when Captain Giebel successfully defended his title in the 220-yard swim by defeating Sinclair, of the Navy, intercollegiate record holder for the distance. Giebel's time was 2 minutes 25½ seconds. Galbraith placed second in the fancy dive.

Next year prospects for a good team are excellent. Coach Reilly will not lose a single member of this season's team that did creditable work despite odds and the strong opposition against it. During the past season the Scarlet coach has worked hard with some green recruits and he has developed these men into first class performers. Dickson and von Stanley are the foremost examples.

1921 Lacrosse Season

Not often will a team at the close of its season marked only by defeats and not a victory to brighten it pack away its equipment thoroughly convinced that it has accomplished something. But this is the case of the 1921 lacrosse team that played a schedule of six games and lost every one.

Lacrosse is a new sport at Rutgers and it takes time to obtain a start and although defeated in every game the members of the team look ahead and see brighter things in the future. In the spring of 1920 lacrosse was a great curiosity, but when the warm months of 1921 rolled around the knowledge of the game was more widely spread.

The season of 1921 started with less handicaps than loomed up at the beginning of the initial year of the sport. Sticks, helmets, gloves, jerseys and shoes were provided for the varsity, and for 1922 it is planned to have equipment for more of the squad. Added to the equipment there was a nucleus of fourteen men who had played the game during the first season. Just as practice was starting Voorhees was killed in a railroad accident and Palmatier was kept out of the game by scholastic difficulties. Previous to this Meistrel, Malloy and Dittmar transferred to Princeton, so that the squad included Captain Johnson, ex-Captain Lott, Lamscha, Brenner, Eckhardt, C. Hilliard, James, Molineux, Feirer, Matheis and Sparks. A large squad turned out and with the regular and green material the team was formed.

The only thing that the Athletic Association failed to provide was a coach, but Albert Brisotti, a member of the New York Lacrosse Club and former coach of Stevens, volunteered to come to New Brunswick three days each week and coach the team, without any recompense, except his carfare. Coach Brisotti instructed the team and this spring he will again be on hand. To show its appreciation, Rutgers will exert every effort to turn out a winning combination.

The schedule opened with the New York Lacrosse Club at Neilson Field, and although the visitors presented a veteran line-up, they were only able to get away with a 5 to 4 victory. The next week the scene shifted to New Haven, where the Scarlet stickmen lost to Yale, 5 to 3, in a game played in the rain. In a practice game the following week, which was also played in the rain, Manual Training High School, of Brooklyn, was vanquished, 9 to 2. The next opponent was the Crescent Athletic Club, the foremost team in this section, but the Half Moon veterans were only able to win 7 to 5. Following the game they said that they were surprised that a team could make such great improvement within a period of one year. The worst defeat of the season was suffered at South Bethlehem at the hands of Lehigh, intercollegiate champions last spring, 11 to 0. After a stiff tussle with Stevens, which was lost 4 to 1, the season was brought to a close when Swarthmore defeated Rutgers 6 to 3.

CAPTAIN LAMSCHA

MANAGER LATHROP

In these games the Rutgers players gained much experience, and with the squad that remains and the new men in the freshmen class a strong team is expected for 1922. Captain Johnson, Lott, A. Dickinson, Molineux and A. Hilliard graduated, while Duggan, a freshman, who had previously played the game in Canada, and Daisley, an experienced high school player left college. This leaves Captain-elect Lamscha, Lincoln, Teller, Matheis, Sparks, Cook, Carl Hilliard, Eckhardt, James and Edward Dickinson as lettermen.

1921 Cross-Country Season

Cross-country is a comparatively new sport at Rutgers, having been inaugurated by Coach Anderson three years ago, but during that short space of time the sport has developed rapidly. This year the Scarlet hill and dalers reached the pinnacle of success by winning the Middle Atlantic States Conference title, defeating Lehigh and Brooklyn Poly in dual meets, and finishing a close second to Columbia in a triangular meet.

When the season was ready to open the prospects for a successful team were darkened when George Douglass, who gathered the largest number of points the season before, decided to leave college. Nevertheless, Powell came forward to take the departed star's place and under the guidance of Captain Robbins the season was a successful one.

In order to give the Scarlet harriers practice over the Lafayette course and in order that they might witness the Lafayette-Rutgers football game that was played on the same day, the scene of the opening run with Lehigh was shifted from New Brunswick to Easton. Captain Robbins led his team home to a 15 to 40 victory by having every one of his followers cross the line before a Lehigh runner completed the course. Although Powell crossed the line first in the triangular meet with Columbia and the College of the City of New York over the Van Cortlandt Park course, New York City, Rutgers had to be content with second place. In the final dual run of the season, the only one over the local course, the Scarlet downed the Brooklyn Poly harriers, 24 to 31.

The brightest spot in the year's record was the winning of the Middle Atlantic States Conference title race held at Easton. Since the first title race of the conference Lafayette has always garnered first honors, but this year the Eastonians placed third, while Bucknell pushed Coach Anderson's proteges hard for the advance position. Although an attempt was made at a meeting of the Board of Managers to award the members of the team the varsity letter, instead of the minor sport insignia, for this accomplishment, the proposal met with disfavor.

At the close of the season Powell was elected to captain the 1922 team. Prospects for a team equally as successful next year are promising because Captain Robbins is the only member to be lost by graduation.

1921 Tennis Season

Just as the 1921 tennis season was ready to start the Rutgers team was deprived of the services of two of its best players, Captain-elect Boocock and Duryee, who were operated on for appendicitis. Although the former attempted to play in several matches later in the season, he was forced to give up the court game.

Even with this weakened team Rutgers was able to win four matches and tie Union twice. Matches were lost to Princeton, undefeated during the season, Lafayette, Yale, 2nd, and the Alumni, a group of former Scarlet captains who made a clean sweep by shutting out the undergraduates in every match.

Prospects for a strong team in 1922 are excellent. Both Boocock and Duryee will be available, besides Jones, Potter and Dixon. Kee'ler graduated, while Van Orden transferred to the Albany Medical College. Lewis, Belknap and Veldron, newcomers to the banks of the Raritan, have displayed a brand of tennis that promises to be of service in the spring campaign.

The Honor System introduced at Rutgers in the spring of 1920 has undergone another year of trial. Much dissatisfaction was manifested against the so-called "squeal clause." At a student assemblage in November it was voted to amend the "squeal clause" to read as follows: "It shall be the duty of any student or member of the faculty who is convinced that a man has violated the Honor System to either warn him and upon the second offence to report him to the Honor Court, or report the individual immediately to the Honor Court, the decision being left to the discretion of the individual reporting the case."

Despite the fact that the clause has been altered there is still dissatisfaction pertaining to the Honor System. Many claim that the system is not working adequately, while others staunchly state that they have seen a great change wrought in the advancement of the honor of the student.

The Targum Association

WILLIAM R. ANGUS, JR. PRESIDENT

The Targum Association of the year 1921-22 achieved a great financial success, in fact the most successful in the history of the paper. Faced in the fall by a note of six hundred dollars, the staff conducted a membership campaign on Registration Day, bedecking all subscribers with lavender tags. Such was the happy choice of the color that eighty per cent of the student body subscribed, a number unheard of in the annals of the college. Not content with the revenue from this source, the advertising staff hurled these facts at the advertisers and secured more advertising than had ever been gathered before. The success of The Targum in the financial field enabled it to liquidate the debt of previous years and the new staff to begin its endeavors with a clean slate.

The staff did its utmost to repay its subscribers and advertisers for their support by making the form and content of the paper pleasing and interesting to all. All of the old type and decorative devices were scrapped. An extra column was added to the paper and although it was but slightly increased in size, it contained over two hundred more inches of news and advertising.

In policy, the editors endeavored not so much to make The Targum the record of things past as a foundation of things to come, although when it was essential that the truth of any matter be brought before the public to correct mistaken rumors or impressions, it was done regardless of the work involved. The editorial policy was one of leadership rather than acquiescence, and the literary standard was made as uncompromisingly pure and high as was within the bounds of the staff's unquestionable ability.

Mr. W. P. Garrison, the treasurer of the Association, who did much in establishing the publication upon a sound basis has resigned owing to the pressure upon him in his other activities. Busy though he was with other duties he rendered a real service to the Association. His successor has not been chosen as we go to press.

The Y. M. C. A. 1921-1922

College opened in the fall of 1921 with no Secretary in the office of the "Y." Despite this fact a goodly number of student workers were back and helping with the work of making the freshmen feel at home in their new and only Alma Mater.

The pledge card had been revised and consequently the work of the membership committee was somewhat more difficult than usual and only three hundred and fifty odd members were secured. These have throughout the year supported the "Y" in the way customary of college men.

The work of the Treasurer was alleviated by the appointment of James Terwilliger as chairman of the finance committee. Due to the work of the Treasurer with the assistance of the members of the finance committee the "Y" for the first time in the last seven years is completely out of debt.

Throughout the year there have been sent out to different schools and conferences in the state no less than twelve deputations. These have been comprised of not only members of the Cabinet but also of such men as Harold Ray '22, Ralph Stone '22, and Harold Test '25. Wherever the deputations were sent they invariably made a very favorable impression. It is hoped that more may be sent out next year as the men who have gone have found the experience invaluable.

The religious meetings first in charge of Brinckerhoff and later in charge of Bartlett have not been so very successful; only three or four of them drawing audiences of any size, though all of the meetings have been favored with very inspiring speakers. The largest meeting of the year was held in the Gymnasium with an attendance of over a thousand which was addressed by Dr. H. K. W. Kumm. The meetings then with the exception of Dr. Kumm's have been almost all failures with respect to numbers attending them, the average number attending being only around forty.

It is hoped that next year we may have a Secretary and that the "Y" may again assume its proper place on the campus. It would seem that this were vital to the moral life of the campus and to the college.

The year 1921-1922 has been an unusually busy and useful one for the Philoclean Literary Society. It has not only continued, through its programs, to foster the literary taste and talent of its members, but has maintained its place of forward-looking leadership in the literary and non-athletic activities of the college.

Following a suggestion made at the annual banquet of the society held the previous May and attended by over fifty members, a committee was appointed at the opening of the college year to investigate the possibility of organizing the students of the liberal courses in a club which should serve to promote among the liberals the common pride in their courses and the united purpose in their studies which have heretofore been monopolized by the "technicals." The result of the investigation was the organization of the Liberal Arts Club.

During the spring, Philoclean took up the study of debating and debate judging. New tendencies which were becoming manifest in the Interscholastic Debating League, which remains the most extensive and the most successful enterprise of the society, and problems growing out of experience in intercollegiate debating challenged the attention of members of Philoclean. It is hoped that the study begun this year may lead to a marked improvement in the spirit and methods of debating here at Rutgers. Some members of the society have already served on request as judges of high school debates, and it is expected that the demand for trained men to serve in this capacity will increase in the future.

Members of Philoclean have continued to fill the majority of the positions of leadership in the literary and forensic activities of the college.

The adoption of the new key as the official emblem was felt to be symbolic of the old position of leadership and honor which Philoclean intends to fill even more worthily than ever.

This, the eighth successful year of the Interscholastic Debating League, was one of consolidation rather than of growth. Greater effort was put forth to consolidate the movement, since it was felt that further growth at this time would prove a handicap.

At the annual banquet of the league, held in New Brunswick on January 7, 1922, one of the chief speakers was Roy M. D. Richardson, Rutgers, 1916, a Rhodes scholar, who while a member of Philoclean was also a member of the committee which founded the Interscholastic Debating League. Dr. Bevier and several other men of prominence in New Jersey also addressed the assembled delegates.

The purpose of the Association of Campus Activities is to promote interest in non-athletic activities and to reward those who serve faithfully on the various publications, musical and dramatic organizations on the campus. The cabinet awards a certificate entitling the holder to wear the gold "R," which is the official emblem of the association. The cabinet is made up of two delegates from each of the organizations listed above and exercises power granted to them under the Constitution which is binding upon all the members. Although founded only last year, it has filled such a long felt want that it has easily become an inspiration to those who are not fortunate enough to belong to an athletic team, and it is safe to predict that as the years go on it will become a greater and greater incentive to service in order to obtain the coveted "R."

- Vice-President*.....Cadet 1st Lieut. HAROLD DEWITT GOULDEN
- Secretary*.....Cadet 1st Lieut. JOHN W. McWILLIAMS
- Treasurer*.....Cadet Major THERON PHILLIPS BROWN

This organization was established at Rutgers on December 14, 1921, with twenty-one commissioned officers of the R. O. T. C. Unit as charter members. The aim of the club is "to promote the interests of the R. O. T. C. Unit at Rutgers and to form a closer bond of friendship among the cadet officers of the corps." Meetings are held the first Monday evening of each month, and it has been the aim of the committees in charge to have as speakers men who are in close touch with military activities.

At the present time the organization is considering affiliation with "Scabbard and Blade," a national organization for all commissioned officers of the military units in the numerous colleges throughout the country.

In conjunction with their course in military law the members of Phalanx presented a moot trial in Ballantine Gymnasium in the spring. The entire procedure of a military trial was carried out in all details.

CLUBS

Agricultural Club

President—J. F. MULLER '22

Vice-President—R. E. CRAY '22

Treasurer—W. H. GIBSON '23

Secretary—R. H. VON GLAHN '23

Publicity Mgr.—C. L. MESSER '22

The past year for the Agricultural Club was both pleasurable and profitable. The season started with a debt on its books incurred by the publication, at the close of last year, of a pamphlet entitled "Student Agricultural Clubs." This booklet met with hearty approval wherever received all over the United States and brought forth many letters of commendation. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace was one of those who so commended the Club.

To pay the debt and to provide a working balance for the club a dance was held in the gym in the early fall which was very well attended and appreciated by the student body.

Medals for the Poultry Judging Team which won first honors at Madison Square Garden in January were purchased.

A number of interesting talks by members of faculty were given the club at its regular meetings, which were usually followed by a social hour with refreshments.

Early in the spring a joint social meeting with the Home Economics Club of the New Jersey College for Women was held. This, like all other undertakings of the club, was a decided success.

Biological Club

President ..... W. E. CALLISON '22
Secretary ..... G. F. PILZ '23
Treasurer ..... D. W. COOPER '22

Since its inception in 1910, the Biological Club has served as a medium for the promotion of a better acquaintance between the professors and the students.

During the past year, the meetings were well attended, the members taking an active interest in the affairs of the club.

A vote of appreciation is due to Dr. Crozier and Dr. Nelson for the interest which they have manifested in the affairs of the club.

Ceramics Club

President—R. V. TAILBY

Vice-President—R. C. KENYON

Secretary—C. E. PRENTICE

Treasurer—I. HANSON

Councillor—PROF. G. H. BROWN

This organization was founded for the advancement and diffusion of knowledge relating to the ceramic industries. It was organized by the ceramic students of the college, who felt the need of an organization that would be both technical and social in nature. The regular business meetings are held once each month and smokers and socials are enjoyed at frequent intervals. Due to the co-operation of the faculty, several noted ceramists gave illustrated lectures at the regular monthly meetings. The club is planning to petition the American Ceramic Society for a student charter and is looking forward to still greater activity for the coming year.

Chemical Club

President ..... EDWIN MARTIN DURAND
Vice-President ..... CASPER WILLIAM RIEMAN, 3RD
Secretary-Treasurer ..... HAROLD DEWITT GOULDEN

The Chemical Club was organized at Rutgers College to keep the undergraduates acquainted with the latest developments of the chemical industry, to encourage some individual research work and to promote better acquaintance between the faculty and the undergraduates.

Meetings are held once a month and smokers at frequent intervals.

During the year a petition was sent to the Committee on Finance of the United States Senate urging the enactment of legislation which would give adequate protection to manufacturers of dyestuffs and chemicals.

The George H. Cook Club was founded early in 1922 by a group of seniors majoring in Agriculture. It is an honorary agricultural society.

The objects of the club are to honor those men who show scholastic and practical ability in agriculture and thereby raise the scholastic standard of the agricultural students, to promote good fellowship in the College of Agriculture and to advance the interests of the college by encouraging study and research in agricultural problems.

The club is named in honor of George Hammell Cook, the man who was the chief promoter of the State Experiment Station and who did so much to build that station upon its present firm foundation. He probably did more to organize New Jersey agriculture than any other man.

Several prominent members of the faculty are honorary and associate members.

The Liberal Arts Club

President .....	CHURCHILL P. LATHROP '22
Vice-President .....	WARREN DIXON '23
Treasurer .....	FREDERICK B. DOREMUS '22
Corresponding Secretary .....	WAYLAND A. DuBOIS '23
Recording Secretary .....	GEORGE B. ROBINSON '23

This year marks the organization of a Liberal Arts Club, filling a long-felt need for some bond of association and co-operation among the students enrolled in the Liberal Arts courses of the college. The club is an outgrowth of a suggestion made by Professor Logan at the Philoclean banquet in the Spring of 1921. A committee was appointed in the fall by Philo, with Mr. Lathrop as chairman. Sentiment appearing favorable, an organization meeting was called. Constitution and by-laws were later adopted and the above officers elected for the current year.

The activities of the club have been limited to several smokers, at which the members have had the pleasure of hearing short talks from Dean Fales, Professor Logan, Professor Whitman and Mr. McKinney. The meetings have been well attended and the spirit shown augurs well for the coming year.

The Rutgers College Student Chapter of the A. S. C. E.

- President* .....LEWIS C. KUHIL, JR. '22
- Vice-President* .....ALLAN B. LINCOLN '23
- Secretary-Treasurer* .....ALLEN C. ELY '22
- Historian* .....FRANK V. CAHILL '22

The Rutgers Student Chapter of the A. S. C. E. started the season with an intensive campaign for membership. The first feature was a big smoker for all the engineering students and faculty. The object was to get the freshmen acquainted with those who were taking a common course. A series of three meetings was inaugurated in which the relative merits of civil, electrical, and mechanical engineering were brought out. These lectures given by successful engineers, with the co-operation of other engineering clubs, were intended to point out to the freshmen the course for which he is most suited.

Throughout the winter the various branches of civil engineering were taken up by outside speakers and students.

American Institute of Electrical Engineers Rutgers College Branch

- President* ..... HARRY W. GOLDSMITH
- Vice-President* ..... PHILANDER H. BETTS
- Treasurer and Corresponding Secretary* ..... THERON P. BROWN
- Recording Secretary* ..... CLINTON H. BAKER
- Faculty Sponsor* ..... PROF. F. F. THOMPSON

Realizing that every young engineer who looks forward to a career of accomplishment should join his fellows to gain their aid and ideals, and to share in the kind of co-operation among engineers which underlies progress in the individual and in the industry, the students organized the Rutgers College Branch in November, 1921. It was officially recognized by and affiliated with the American Institute of Electrical Engineers in December, 1921. The purpose of the branch is to afford an opportunity for the student to gain a proper perspective of the electrical engineering profession, as distinct from the commercial development, by enabling him to become acquainted with the personnel and problems of the engineering field. The total of all classes of membership is now thirty-seven.

The Rutgers College Mechanical Engineering Club

RUTGERS SECTION OF
AMERICAN SOCIETY OF MECHANICAL ENGINEERS

President .....	J. R. TAYLOR '22
Vice-President .....	T. F. MACKESSY '22
Treasurer .....	A. K. FOULDS '22
Secretary .....	S. I. HAMMOND '23
Honorary Chairman .....	R. C. H. HECK

Since the affiliation of the Rutgers College Mechanical Engineering Club with the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the club has increased its activities many fold. The affiliates are given opportunity to meet leading members of the engineering profession through lectures and talks.

During the past year Rutgers has been well represented at the fall meeting of the Metropolitan Section of A. S. M. E., and at the Student Night of the same society at which representatives from New York University, Columbia University, Stevens Institute, Cooper Union, and Brooklyn Polytechnic were present.

Rutgers College Band

This year the college band was completely re-organized. It is no longer connected with the R. O. T. C., but is a strictly college organization. A constitution and by-laws were passed in December tending toward a permanent organization and in February the band was granted the A. C. A. award.

We have a band of approximately forty pieces, well equipped with instruments and uniforms of red sweaters and white-flannel trousers.

The Rutgers College Alumni Monthly says of our band: "In ability, in their uniforms, and in their worth they stand on a par with the bands at Harvard, Princeton, Pittsburgh and Pennsylvania. Rutgers may be well proud of its musicians." We, as a college body, can merely re-echo this sentiment.

For the fourth time in as many years Queens Players collaborated with the Mimes of the New Jersey College for Women for the presentation of the annual play, which was this year Madelaine Lucette Riley's "Mice and Men." The play was presented in the High School Auditorium, and before curtain time "standing room only" was all that remained. The leading characters for Queens Players were taken by H. Wilson Lloyd, '24; Howard Anderson, '23; Charles L. Messer, '22; Lawrence E. Swenson, '23; Charles S. Dayton, '25, and H. J. Ross, '25. Of the Mimes playing the female roles were Misses Heck, Leonard, Reuterdahl, Higgins, and Walsh.

The Crossing

(To commemorate the death of Garrett S. Voorhees '22)

The mist hangs low above the river bed,
And none can see the Promised Land ahead
Unless he plunge into the quiet stream
And penetrate the region of the dead.

Though youth long happy days would contemplate,
We, all of us, must cross it soon or late
When frosty fingers summon us to know
The great adventure in another state.

To some the first pale dawning is denied;
The many to the noontide heat abide;
And gazing fondly backward on their day,
A few persist until the eventide.

Some wrestle fiercely, frightened, on the brink;
Some, trembling, from the icy waters shrink;
Some tumble in; some go with purpose set—
And once across we wonder what they think.

We ponder often where our dear ones go
When once they enter that dim river's flow;
We wish some day to smile and clasp their hands
And talk about the things we used to know.

Kirkpatrick By Moonlight

Touched by the silver rays
Of midnight's herald bright,
Thy leaded panes
Of varied stains
Shine out into the night.

Beneath thy Gothic arch
Three oaken ports are hinged,
Aglow like glass
Their knobs of brass
With mystic lights are tinged.

Thy rough hewn stone of brown,
Bedecked with ivy leaves,
Has vines that climb,
Defying time,
Up to thy very eaves.

Thy roof and eaves alike
Are bathed in silver beams;
Thy rows of slate
Are shining plate
That back to Heaven gleams.

Upon thy gabled nave,
A cross of stone behold,
On high alone,
Though only stone,
Shines forth a beam of gold.

Now shadows of the night
Thine outlines dim erase;
Up in the sky
A cloud speeds by
The startled moon's white face.

In the Old Days

How many times as undergraduates we have sat in chapel and gazed around us at those awe-inspiring portraits that adorn Kirkpatrick's walls. How often as we viewed the somber faces there have we thought that surely our alma mater was a very different place in the old days. The owners of those righteous countenances must have lived in an atmosphere far removed from our "irresponsible" college life of today. Their success must have been laid on a sterner foundation than that on which we build. The undergraduate life they knew was undoubtedly marked, not only by a zealous application to work, but also by a dignified deportment and exemplary bearing such as is unknown today. Of course all these statements are true—and yet many odd and curious incidents are to be found in the records of those old times. The old writings and Targums contain numerous episodes in the nature of a revelation, many tales that invite retelling.

When Queens was the only building on our campus, and when the President lived in the wing now occupied by the College Office, it was the custom for our professors to maintain their own commissary in the form of live stock. At the particular time in question our President was the proud owner of a beautiful white cow, which he tenderly cared for on our luxuriant campus. One bright spring morning Prexy awoke to find a strange black bovine impudently munching upon our greensward. Infuriated at the intrusion of this unknown beast, without doubt the property of some careless neighbor, he summoned the janitor and together they drove the animal to the New Brunswick pound. Chuckling with pedantic glee, Prexy returned to the campus, only to become aware of the fact that his own pet had not been seen since the previous evening. Imagine his rage when he ascertained that the beast which he had so maliciously driven to the pound was none other than his own beautiful animal, mischievously blackened during the night by a group of students. Imagine, also, his chagrin when, in order to regain possession of his pet, he was compelled to pay a handsome redemption fee to the town authorities.

When '35 were sophomores, a certain young gentleman of that class incurred the friendly enmity of two freshmen. The latter were of a scheming turn of mind and so paid him a midnight visit, bountifully supplying his bed and person with an extremely unpleasant substance known as "cow-itch." In some manner, known only to the powers that be, word of this deed reached the ears of the President. He summoned the sophomore to his sanctum and demanded the names of the culprits, calling them worthless scoundrels, men of whom no good would ever come, men of whom the college would be well rid. The victim, however, refused to tell and maintained his silence in spite of heated persuasion and dire threats. The matter was finally dropped and the tale would hardly bear retelling but for the sequel. Of the two freshmen, one gave his life while leading a charge in the Mexican War, and the other became Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Work was begun on Peter Hertzog Hall in 1856. Its cornerstone was to be laid at noon on a certain day in April and the occasion was advertised throughout the state. Impressive ceremonies were to accompany the laying of the stone, for the erection of the Seminary building was a momentous event in the annals of the Dutch Church. On the appointed day the dignitaries of town and church assembled in solemn conclave upon the Hill, and all was in readiness when suddenly it was discovered that the corner-stone had disappeared. A search was instituted, but no trace of the missing stone was found, with the result that the ceremony had to be postponed for two weeks while a new stone was secured. The mystery remained unsolved for several years. Finally, however, when the culprits felt themselves in a safe position to confess, it became known that the stone had been abducted by a band of Rutgers students. During the night preceding the day of the ceremony they had stealthily assailed the Hill and laboriously carried the stone from the summit to the canal, into whose muddy waters it was deposited for safe keeping. The original plan was to return it on the following night, but as little care had been taken to mark the place of immersion many nights of grappling failed to reveal its hiding place. Whether or not the stone still lies at the bottom of the raging canal no one knows—but it is known that the portrait of one of the marauders now hangs upon our chapel walls.

The Sideline Satellite

I cannot play the game,
I couldn't make the team,
And yet I long to be
Where scarlet jerseys gleam.

I long to fight for dear old Queens,
Where forwards with the foe collide;
Where halfbacks say through gritted teeth:
"Three yards I will not be denied!"

But slight of brawn, with little skill,
The bench and sidelines are my lair,
Where every strident signal call
Is echoed back in silent prayer.

I cannot play the game,
I couldn't make the team,
And yet I long to be
Where scarlet jerseys gleam.

"NICK."

Moon Struck

Wast ever moon struck,
Thou child of man?
Hast ever felt the call of unseen worlds,
The strange, impulsive whisperings,
The songs of Pan?

Wouldst thou be moon struck,
Oh, mortal child?
Then leave the busy haunts of grasping men;
Leave Mammon shackled in the marts,
And seek the wild.

Wouldst thou be moon struck?
Then go, alone,
Climb silvered heights till lost in star-flecked skies;
Or walk on gold-lit sands and list
The breakers' tone.

How blest the moon struck!
The man who has stood
In high communion with eternal Mind
Has felt ambition born again,
New faith in Good.

The Star Falls

I open my window and shutters,
 And lean far out on the sill;
 Above me the bright stars twinkle,
 Below me the city is still.

No voice is upraised to re-echo
 Across the desolate way;
 The stillness of night is unbroken,
 The world is awaiting the day.

Alone, I stand silent and ponder;
 Alone, I give thought to a prayer,
 For the soul that lies dying in sorrow,
 Midst loneliness, trouble, and care.

I wonder if God in his heaven
 Is watching the great and small
 With the same great tender affection,
 O, is he the guardian of all?

As I stand there in thought and in silence
 Above me a bright light gleams;
 It courses the length of the heavens;
 The world is caught in its beams.

The star falls; the silence unbroken
 Remains; not a whisper is heard;
 Yet, as that bright messenger glimmers,
 Some soul hears the voice of its Lord.

Then the soul that was buried in sorrow
 Leaps upward and onward. 'Tis free;
 No more in its prison of tissues
 In grief and remorse will it be.

O God, who dost dwell in the heavens,
 We know that thou watchest us all,
 No mortal need e'er be without thee,
 No matter how great or how small.

I Spoke a Piece

I spoke a piece and gained applause
Because I helped a worthy cause.

I sang a song, but no one knew
Because they all were singing too.

I danced a dance and won renown
For acting like an utter clown.

I played a part but roused no rage
Because I was a "voice off stage."

I wrote a poem. They printed it—
'Twas months before my bones were knit.

Willie's College Education

A pert sophistication
And some superficial thought,
Makes the college education
Our little Willie bought.

To his great exaltation
We pay our humble court
And view with consternation
What education wrought.

Klimbing After Klio

Being a true and faithful account of the wooing of the muse of history (and being jilted by 10 per cent) in Collegio Rutgersensis in Nova Caesaria.

Scene: Just step in the first door on the right-hand side of the ground floor of Van Nest Hall and you scene it.

DRAMATIS PERSONAE

(You think we don't know what "dramatis personae" means? Well, you're right, we don't.)

The Oracle: Who probably thinks he teaches history; he's mistaken; he KNOWS history.

The Deputy Oracle: Who officiates as high priest and master of the rolls. Robinson '23: The Chorus of the Tragedy and prompter of The Oracle.

The Rest of Us: Who are merely spear-bearers and supers and who have no connection whatever with the wooing of the muse other than to yell "here" when our cues come and then forget it. Our job is to gaze in open-mouthed wonder when The Oracle shows: (a) that Julius Cæsar was a dud; (b) that as a conqueror Alexander was a frost; (c) that all historians should have written patent medicine ads instead of histories; (d) that in general the job would have been done much better if The Oracle had been present as amicus curiae at the Creation.

* * * * *

The Oracle is discovered pacing up and down the pedagogical platform, while the Deputy Oracle has just closed his Doomsday book containing the several and collective dooms of those sensible ones who have cut the performance.

The Oracle: I shall now begin my series of lectures on the Age of Pericles in Greece.

Heine '23: How old was he?

The Oracle: Now as to the general political conditions in Greece in the Vth century B. C.: If all the sardine cans used in 1920 were piled one on top of the other the pile would fall over, and, furthermore, if all the homes in the United States containing illicit stills were suddenly dumped into the ocean the sea would have a permanent wave and this country would be as populous as Tierra del Fuego.

(The Oracle stamps suddenly across the platform, playfully taps the Chorus on the head with a window opener and wildly grabs a blue book from the table.)

The Oracle: You see this yellow book? It's the book of Lysicrates Hoyle, and contains the rules of all the Olympic games. See, Olympia (he goes to a map and his pointer wavers somewhere between Chicago and Seattle) Olympia, the ancient Greek carnival town that they named after Admiral Dewey's flagship. It's best to read Hoyle in the original. (He reads) Kai palai men ekouon tinas dapanas adikous kai paralogetheisas upo ton pleonektikos kai anaidos tais newyorkandphiladelphiapaperscigarscigarrettesandchocolates. . . You see—of course, I don't know what it means, but it's the original. (He throws the book into the waste basket and works himself into the proper range for the imparting of knowledge to the vacant stares.) SPARKS!!!

Sparks (putting the dice into his pocket): Yes, sir.

The Oracle: What have you read for the course?

Sparks: A short treatise on knitting.

The Oracle: Good. Anything in it about Greek history?

Sparks: No.

The Oracle: FINE!!!! Now, regarding Gooch's book, "History and Historians of the Nineteenth Century"—Gooch is a master at history—one of the best writers on the subject, and I advise you blackguards to get busy and read him (stops abruptly and stares in the air—he resumes:) Did any of you guys ever try to fill a straight broken in the middle? Robinson, what was I just saying?

Chorus (consulting book): I think you were just putting Gooch on the pan.

The Oracle: Oh, yes. When it comes to history, Gooch is closed for repairs. His translation of the petition of the Greek Anti-Saloon League to the Athenian boule is atrocious. If I ever catch any of you dumb jacks reading that old fool I'll stick you higher than the price of coal. I'm going to stick Ellis anyhow, he writes left-handed. Speaking of being stuck, I want all you lazy loafers to come around on Wednesday. I'll have my deputy pull the names of those I'm going to stick out of a hat. I might change my mind, though, and pass those names pulled out and stick the rest.

Bebout: Where is Greece?

The Oracle: That question shows remarkable insight. (To deputy): As this is an important question, mark it as one I won't give on the exam.

Whisper (from back row): What's this course about, anyhow?

Second Whisper (from ditto): That's his little secret—anybody who finds out what it's all about gets flunked. Once three yeggmen and two detectives tried to get the time out of him, but he wouldn't tell them, as it was 4:04, the date of the fall of Athens.

(The bell rings and dumps you from the frying pan of history to the fire of chapel—Alarums and excursions.)

The Strange Tale Dealing With Old Jake Rooney

Now back in baseball's olden days when all the boys wore beards,
And all the players didn't carry much between the ears,
There was a guy named Rooney who was famed the nation wide
As a rarin', tearin' heller with a nasty dive-on slide.

Old Jake he did the catching job for New York in the days
When Rad Radbourne pitched for Providence—the team they called the Grays.
He was a bangup catcher that could handle any ball,
And swing a wicked willow good enough to beat them all.

Not only was he famous as a catcher and at bat,
But old Jake Rooney was original, and that
Is something that did count in those far off days of yore,
For cleverness and skill of mind would often change a score.

One season—come to think, I guess 'twas eighty-three—
New York was leading all the league, and Jake was hitting free
And easy like just as he always hit,
When Boston came up from behind—sort of livened up a bit.

Well, Boston kept on winning and they gained and gained and gained,
While New York kept on losing—why all their bats seemed tamed
Save Jake's, and he was there a clouting out them all,
Far off and high up—out they went against the right field wall.

Well, things had gone so now that Boston's team was tied
With New York for the leadership and series on the side.
The Boston boys came down to town to stage a four-act show,
And Gotham town was worrying—they thought the team would blow.

Old Jake had sprained a tendon just to add to New York's plight,
And a rookie catcher named O'Keefe was in his place to fight
And keep the pennant back in Gotham town, and say—
Make believe there was no crowd on hand on that first day!

Well, Boston's team, they couldn't score and eight frames had been played,
While New York got one run—now listen how the game was saved:
Two were on and two were gone—the Boston boys were up;
Ah! Sam O'Hare, the mighty flare, was called the Boston Pup.

Well, Sam got up and let two by, just to make it fair,
Then he swung and knocked the ball a thousand feet into the air.
Now don't get anxious, boys, and please don't start to scowl,
For O'Hare's ball was just a common ordinary foul.

It drifted over down to third—the home team's bench was there,
And old Jake Rooney souatted and he gazed into the air;
Saw that O'Keefe couldn't nab it—he grabbed a glove nearby
And put it on while looking slowly upward at the sky.

Down came the ball, as was an old and ancient habit;
He reached up ready now and all set just to grab it;
Then he cupped his hands and raised his voice and yelled out at the ump:
"Rooney now catching for New York." Say, wasn't that a TRUMP?

My Chariot

The snow's meltin' fast, for spring's come at last,
 Now for my chariot gray—
 How gran' it will feel to sit at the wheel
 O' the "Car That Made Good in a Day."

Since the first zero night she's been frozen up tight,
 Jacked high on blocks o' wood;
 Today she'll come down, 'n' go rollin' aroun'—
 Gee, I hope her tires are good.

She's covered with dust, and here and there's rust,
 But the engine's what worries me;
 The battery's so low that the starter won't go,
 So I'll have to crank 'er, you see.

She needs oil, air, 'n' water, then she'll start as she orter,
 With just a twist or two;
 And you get lots of thrills, till in come the bills,
 'N' then they bring water for you.

She starts with a roar, 'n' you swing back the door,
 And open the cut-out wide;
 You jump in the seat and maneuver your feet,
 Then back her slowly outside.

The valves sweetly purr and her wire wheels whirr,
 As she idles down the street;
 She seems to be hep that she's chuck full of pep,
 While she speeds o'er the even concrete.

She's the only thing to have round in the spring,
 All of the boys agree,
 What do they care? Why, they'll go anywhere,
 Just so the ridin' is free.

Galoshing Through Life

Why worry? says the college man,
We laugh aloud at time and weather.
When storm clouds come we teach our frosh
To care nought for his cloth or leather,
But scuff a gay galosh.

Why worry? says the college man,
Life is too short and death too long,
So with a smile we take the josh,
Greet criticism with a song,
And scuff a gay galosh.

Why worry? says the college man,
That motto served us well in France.
While rabbit hunting 'gainst the Boche
We didn't ride with plume and lance,
But scuffed a mean galosh.

Why worry? says the college man,
A cheer cleans better than a sigh.
The dirt in life can't stand the wash,
The grouch can't make the grade, that's why
We scuff a gay galosh.

Some day I hope to be

 Or from Paderewski
 A wig of hair I'll swipe.

Out of Nothing Into Nowhere

Void, emptiness, vacuosness....Nullibiety! What a feeling! What torture for one to go through! The clock in the hall tickets on its ominous warning of the approaching hour. Behind the closed door a voice is faintly heard. Something in its intonation stirs a tiny smoldering ray of hope within. Again it is heard. Absolute despair at last! The last hopeful spark is smothered. All is lost. It is no longer of any avail whatsoever. The hands of the clock in the hall have crept around with a barely perceptible motion until they point to the final moment of grace. Why should this be denied me?....Anguish. Why did a voice on the other side of the door prevent me from....My head is hot. Blood is surging through the arteries of my neck and I almost choke. I loosen my collar. My hands alternately clench and open. My knuckles become white, then scarlet. I clutch at my throat. A fixed and glassy stare comes into my eyes as I stagger toward my bed and throw myself headlong upon it. My breath comes in convulsive gasps. I shudder. Remorse now has me in its grasp. That — I — should — have — been — denied — this — one — pleasure. Sobs....Emptiness....Void....Vacuity....Nullibiety.

Click! The door opens! Blinkingly approaching me is a form. Ah! It is he! Words come and find room for utterance. I speak: "For cripes sake, Kelly, why in hell couldn't you cut that short and give me a chance before 8 o'clock? I'll get a hell of a drag with that broad. I had to fix up a date for tomorrow. Ke-ripes!"

Nullibiety....Vacuity....Emptiness....Void....

Let the Bones Roll

At midnight in a darkened room
Four men were bending o'er the floor,
Two bones played with another's doom,
Unlucky one,—he tried for four.

The shades were drawn, the doors were locked,
No fear that they would e'er be caught
Each man with cash was fully stocked;
The game was close and t'was hard fought.

The Dude now held the restless ones,
He tossed—there turned up five and two.
Again they came as from a gun
The losers now were in a stew.

"I'll let it ride," the Dude sang out;
The bets were covered one by one
Determined Lady Luck to flout,
The bones turned up, a two and one.

A loud knock sounded on the door
The boys now scattered to the books;
The coin they gathered from the floor,
And now and then cast furtive looks.

Quickly one ventured to the door;
The "General" now came in the suite.
"I heard a rattle on the floor—
Now cut it boys, before I speak.

"You can't afford it, that you know,
Get on the books, cut out this stuff.
Your daddies don't roll in the dough;
Of gambling you have had enough."

The door closed softly as he left,
The boys sought out another room
And rolled the cubes with movements deft
'Til morn dispelled the nightly gloom.

"The game's the thing," the boys opine
And Lady Luck is their divine.
Books have for them no fascination—
For them who hope to lead the nation.

PRESIDENT SPARKS AMONG THrong
WHICH SEES DUFFY '50 SCORE SEVEN TIMES

Rutgers won its fourteenth victory in as many years from the Orange and Black at the new Demarest Stadium which was formally opened today. The Scarlet team showed its usual good form due to the aid of coach Scudder and overwhalmed the opponents by a score of 66-14. All of the Princeton scoring was done by Harry Troup Jr.

Duffy's eighty eight yard run was the feature of the game and some of the credit must be given to Maloney, a freshman, who in smearing lockers of Princeton, kept an open field.

In the last few minutes of play Coach Scudder rushed in if Raub 2nd who lone down the field for a touchdown. In every

SUTTON RELEASED!

(SPECIAL TO TARGUM)

W.P. Sutton, a member of the class of '23 was released from Sing Sing yesterday after a long term. This desperate case puzzled detectives for years. It seem that Sutton had acquired the habit of collecting spoons during his college days and when finally apprehended it required three ten ton trucks to return the adopted tableware.

We fear he has not reformed yet for Warden Maltheis finds that six of the prison spoons are absent from the weekly roll call. This may account for the mysterious clinking noise noticed as Sutton was passing out of the prison gates. Further investigation is

A bill is now before the house requesting that students who can tell the proof anything be given shares in the new Five Dollar Society recently formed by the faculty for what appears to be mercenary reasons.

The office has announced that dorm rents will be reduced two tenths of one percent as soon as compulsory chapel is abolished. This good news has some catch in it if we are sure but if it really

COLLEGE BOOK STORE

WINANTS HALL

The Rutgers College Book Store has been established for the purpose of supplying Rutgers men with all essentials for their college work, and particularly to have a source of immediate supply for all requirements, thus preventing interruptions or delays in the academic work.

The Store will carry, in addition, various other lines of merchandise useful and needful to the students: Toilet Articles, Sporting Goods of all kinds for all games and exercises, College Jewelry, Banners, Pennants, Stationery, Novelties, etc.

The predominating idea in the development of the Store is to supply the students with good material at reasonable prices, and not to make a profit. As soon as circumstances permit the benefits of any profitable character will be transmitted to the student purchaser.

To obtain this result it is hoped the student body will co-operate fully and consider the Store as one of their strong personal interests, and with their continued support help to develop and increase its growth for the mutual benefit of all concerned; the larger the growth the greater the benefit.

You May Head This List Some Day

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER started work as a clerk.

ANDREW CARNEGIE once hired out as a mill hand at $1.20 per week.

CHARLES M. SCHWAB at seventeen years was driving a grocery wagon for $2.50 a week.

FRANK W. WOOLWORTH started his chain of five-and-ten-cent stores with $50 saved from a meager salary of $8 per week.

Saving and investing made multimillionaires of these four men. You have a better start than they had. Can you make as good a finish?

We'll add 4% interest to your savings.

TO RUTGERS CHEMISTS:

The equipping of your first laboratory will be one of the most important undertakings of your business career. You cannot gamble on the results this first equipment will give you. Your volumetric glassware must be accurately graduated, your balances and weights must be carefully standardized, your chemicals must be guaranteed by the labels on them. You must feel safe in assuming that your laboratory apparatus, chemicals and supplies are of the highest grade.

Our reputation has been built up on sixty-nine years of honest merchandising, where Quality has always been our great aim. Throughout the whole scientific world E. & A. are the recognized distributors of dependable and accurate laboratory apparatus, chemicals and supplies.
