Welcome to Cabaret Theatre's Director's Showcase for Fall 2003. The scenes presented this evening have been chosen by each director for their message, their artistic expression and their entertainment value. After a brief introduction to the craft of direction, our directors were armed with actors and their own imagination and turned loose upon the dramatic medium. With the end of our journey drawing near, I hope that they are as pleased with their creations as I have been working with them. Together, we have tread a long path, and tonight their collective artistic vision is ready to be shared. Thank you, our friends, family and Cabaret kin, for being with us on this important night, and please join me in wishing all our artists 'break a leg' as the curtain rises...

Yours, Mel
